THE PLOT

Marijuana smokers turn into zombies with the "munchies" for human flesh when a strain of radioactive pot infects the stoners of America. A hilarious warning sign of what may come from the legalization craze sweeping the nation.

HOWS THE MOVIE?

HORROR T-SHIRTS, C
& COLLECTIBLE

I'm taking on the task here of watching a stoner movie without being a stoner. Heck, I've never smoked weed. Now that didn't stop me from enjoying such stoners movies like Cheech and Chong, Friday, and a couple horror ones that wasn't so bad. That brings us to this one here. I think you really at the end of the day might need to be on something or out of your ever loving mind to really like what you get here. The movie boast of having more pot and less plot. That about sums it up. The film does offer some very nasty gore, but it then proceeds to mess that up by showing some really strange and awkward CGI effects. I tried to just check myself at the door and be opened to this, but I just couldn't do it. Had to put a gun to my head, I'm not sure I could have faked a laugh even once for this.

Now I'm not in the business of trying to tear a movie apart. Clearly this is a film made from a director that has made other stuff, Pot Zombies part one for instance, that has a clear following and this sort of thing will have an audience. I'm just soo not a member of that crowd and this thing just drove me nuts from start to finish. Would it be too much to ask for more zombies and plot with less pot? Can we make that movie happen next maybe? I'm afraid I found Pot Zombies a weird CGI mess that is too stoned for its own good.
