The Sic Fucks are an interesting punk band comprised of older folks who still have that punk rock vision & energy, just they are a little older & their sense of humor is, as their band name suggest, lol, sick! This CD was recorded Live @ CBGB's on October 13, 2006 & it's an interesting show, because you hear the bands singer talking of how CBGB's was closing & there was a plan to open it in Las Vegas, but sadly, the clubs owner died before any of that could happen. This cd sounds like a live concert is happening in your living room when you listen to it, the sounds clear, but raw & choppy just like a good live show SHOULD be! The bands singer is Jewish & there's quite a few Jew-related jokes made, & there's even a weird little cover of "Blitzkrieg Bop" by The Ramones to boot! The music's loud, fast, sloppy & pure punk rock n roll...to sum it up, it's EXACTLY what CBGB's was all about & I really do enjoy these "Live @ CBGB" releases...they represent a club that meant alot to the history of rock n roll!
