

Sleaze Grinder

Skateboard Kink Freak (Bleu Productions, via MVD), which wins the Best Title of the Week trophy (it's in the mail) is intense lesbian bondage courtesy director Maria Beatty, who's not faking the funk when it comes to serious girl-girl BDSM. Michelle Ashton is top-billed as a domme artist who picks up Amber Rayne and puts her through her paces with a variety of ropes, clamps, whips, and strap-ons (there's a skateboard involved too, which validates the title); yeah, you see this stuff in plenty of disco porn titles, but the action here is real and honest and very heavy, though without the scary-assault side that a lot of guy-centric BDSM offers. The scary is handled by Belgian doomsters Caldera, who provide the soundtrack.
