

Don't Forget the Motor City

3-DVD set ($34.95)

By the early 1970s, the fabled Motown music machine was in transition, moving from its longtime funky-town home in Detroit to the corporate canyons of Los Angeles. These 100 promotional videos, dating from the '70s into the '90s, shine a rare spotlight on the stars that followed the comet trails of label pioneers Diana Ross, Marvin Gaye, Stevie Wonder, the Temptations, the Isley Brothers and the Jackson 5. Through the music of Mary Wells, Martha and the Vandellas, Billy Preston, Edwin Star, the Ross-less Supremes and more than 75 other acts, the legacy of the Motor City lived on long after Motown had hopped the train for the West Coast.
