Onyx To Release Video 'Violence'

Apr 28, 2008

Story by: Michael Tedder

Let it never be said that Queens hip-hop roughnecks Onyx skimp on the added value. Their upcoming retrospective, ONYX - 15 Years Of Videos, History & Violence (Major Independent), due on June 10, will not only include 22 uncensored music videos and, uh, violence, but such bonus goodies as a photo gallery, commentary from Fredro Starr and Sticky Fingaz and, intriguingly enough, something called "slam karaoke." The DVD will also include live performances, studio sessions, interviews, freestyles and "personal moments."

As for the videos themselves, the set ranges from clips that date back to the group's 1993 debut, Bacdafucup, such as "Throw Ya Gunz," "Bacdafucup" and "Slam," all the way up to videos from Starr and Fingaz's recent solo projects, such as singles "Can't Call It," and "California Girls," and will also include their collaborations with Biohazard, Wu-Tang Clan and DMX.

For Kirk "Fingaz" Douglas fans, the set will no doubt be his most eagerly awaited DVD release since Blade The Series.
