Tatsumaki: Japan 2008

Metal

These Quebecois techno-metal masters have been thrashing and roaring since the early '80s — but didn't play their first Japanese gig until 2008. Lucky for them (and us), somebody thought to film the whole affair — though it would have been even better if somebody had actually taken some cameras onstage. Ah well; at least you get a few bonus tracks and other goodies.
