WILD Profile: Rachel Kolar, She's My Sister

by: Blaine Skrainka

Who: Rachel Kolar of He's My Brother She's My Sister

Where she was born: In my parents bed in LA. Our midwife Violet was holding and amethyst and my Jamaican granny was pairing the whole thing.

Where she lives now: Ojai, CA

What she does: Attempting to take control over my mind and feel my way through the rest of life.

What she is currently working on:

Perfecting my surfing, writing a film, new songs for HMBSMS and some electronic music on the side.

What good energy means to her:

Life. Yin and Yang while in the material world.

The instrument with the most soul:

The Rife Machine.

What she thinks there is too much of, and too little of:

Trash and politics; Rainforests.

With whom she would like most to go on a “ tête à tête”:

Steve Jobs, Benjamin Franklin, Albert Einstein.

Her most striking moment:

Falling in love.

On her life-to-do list:

Open a free form space of education.

What cracks her up:

Strippers.

The first record she bought with her own money:

Beach Boys, Pet Sounds

Some music she recommends that we check out:

Grimes. Alt-J. Benjamin Franklin (though they're still way too underground to be found on the Internet yet).

What she can't live without:

Love.

What she would like to leave to a future generation:

Children.

Her next challenge:

Finishing my screenplay.

Her Hero:

Good parents.

Rachel's WILD Wish:

End world hunger.
