

Brian Eno

Credits: Getty Image

The Roxie celebrates Brian Eno w/ screening of 'The Man Who Fell To Earth'

By Robyn Chelsea-S..., SF Music News Examiner

May 10th, 2011 12:12 pm PT

Brian Eno, born Brian Peter George St. John le Baptiste de la Salle Eno, at one point in his career was probably best known for his early work with Roxy Music, his production duties for U2 and Coldplay, and as one of the principal innovators of ambient music.

But with the advances in technology, he may very well go down as the composer of the Microsoft theme. Eno will be the focus of The Roxie Theatre feature film Wednesday evening, May 11.

Brian Eno: The Man Who Fell To Earth, the first documentary film about the artist, explores his life, career and music between the years 1971 & 1977, a period in his life some view as his golden age.

The Man Who Fell To Earth features numerous exclusive interviews, contributions from a range of musicians, writers, collaborators and friends - plus performance clips, studio film and an abundance of the most exceptional music ever created.

This show will coincide closely with Brian Eno's birthday (May 15), so this will be an opportunity to celebrate Mr. Eno's b-day with other fans and witness a fantastic documentary.

Brian Eno: The Man Who Fell To Earth Showtime 7pm

Tickets: $10

Advertisement

Do you like this article?

SendBe the first of

