Brian Eno. A man to admire. A man you can really, truly, regardless of context, call influential. 1971-1977: The

Man Who Fell To Earth is a film documenting the stage of Eno's career many people regard as his golden age, starting from his breakthrough with Roxy Music until the flurry of solo albums he released between 1973 until 1977. With Here Come The Warm Jets, Taking Tiger Mountain (By Strategy), Another Green World and Before And After Science Eno created a body of work that will prove hugely influential for a multitude of bands, reinventing pop music's landscape by introducing electronic elements and creating ambient-heavy songs. This documentary features numerous exclusive interviews, contributions from a range of musicians, writers, collaborators and friends – plus performance and studio film and an abundance of the most exceptional music ever created.
