After losing contact with a military base, a high mountain unit is sent to investigate. Upon arrival, they find only a woman in chains. Isolation and the impossibility of escape serve to undermine the soldiers' judgment. Sounds kinda like the plot for "Predator" to me, but I don't know if there's a seven-foot tall alien hunting human scalps in this one. DVD extras: making-of-featurette.

Danish crime drama Unit One reveals an unvarnished perspective on criminal casework and the people who spend their lives doing it, Charlotte Fich stars as the ambitious detective Ingrid Dahl who's been promoted to lead Unit One, the elite mobile task force created to support local law enforcement across Denmark. Mads Mikkelsen plays Detective Allan Fischer, the bad boy of the team whose disregard for rules and hot temper often leads to trouble. The cerebral and intuitive Thomas La Cour, played by Lars Brygmann has the uncanny ability to visualize what really happened at crime scenes and veteran detective IP Sørensen is the glue that holds the team together. Johnny Olsen, the former Danish national soccer star, drives Unit One's mobile HQ and has struck up a relationship with logistics specialist Gaby Levin. As a group they tackle cases involving murder, kidnapping, human trafficking and extortion. The job challenges everything they know about the criminal mind and also takes a heavy toll on their personal lives. Don't know why they didn't just box this up and sell it as one set. In Danish with English subtitles. No extras listed.
