NSFW - Trailer for the straight to video DISCO EXORCIST is trashy goofy funkified exploitation

Published at: May 02, 2012 7:14:45 PM CDT

Hey folks, Harry here... I love giant film productions, but I also love bat nuts insane productions that just don't feel nearly as safe as a studio film. It kind of reminds me of BLACK DEVIL DOLL - and I have one particular friend that will be all over this like Porky on Petunia. That NSFW in the headline means NOT SAFE FOR WORK. If you click on the below video - you will be met with some rank shit that will get your ass fired. SO - I have warned you. What is coming is a film that a smaller segment of AICN will be giggly about - and I like those sick freaks. Cuz, I'm one of em. Here ya go...

Every year, they get local and semi-local film makers to create short horror movies for a crowd of drunk people in halloween costume. Always a good time, seeing the local girls naked (if you hadn't already gotten around to them yourself) and seeing horror porn in action. Good times..

If only cuz it'll be funny to see a dude who looks like a slightly-less-creepy Crispin Glover as a ladies' man. Oh, and tits and gore.

They are too aware that they are "making a bad movie" and that's pretty much what they crank out. Most of them would be good for maybe a 30 minute short, but not a feature. The only one I can think of that worked was "The Devils Rejects." Zombie set out to make a grimy grindhouse style movie, but didn't forget to make a good movie at the same time. I guess "Black Dynamite" worked too, but that's because I liked it.

Which means I'll have to keep my eyes out for a Amazon release on DVD. That's going in the "schlock" collection.

I WILL NOT WATCH YOUR MOVIE UNLESS YOU CAN FIX YOUR CINEMATOGRAPHY.

Pretty sad when modern cameras look worse than the stuff they've replaced.

Do they still do fun stuff at the Prytania these days? It seemed like it took forever for something worthwhile to come around there. Hope they can get it together. Would hate to hear that place closed.
