50 Years Of The Yardbirds

Yup, it really is fifty years since the Yardbirds first formed in the south-west suburbs of London, Paul Samwell-Smith and Keith Relf being joined by Chris Dreja, Jim McCarty and Top Topham in late May 1963 (and originally named The Bluesounds) before laying claim to three of the finest guitar players the world would ever see - Eric Clapton, Jeff Beck and of course Jimmy Page and then imploding in the late '60s. Reforming in 1995 and still boasting original members Dreja and McCarty - but now featuring lead guitarist

Ben King (and you have to feel for the poor bugger stepping into Clapton, Beck and Page's oversized shoes), plus singer Andy Mitchell and bassist Dave Smale - the band have gone on to tour all over the world and this 19 track CD, entitled Making Tracks, features songs lifted from various tours undertaken between 2010 and 2011 and includes some previously unreleased new material plus big hits like 'Heart Full of Soul', 'Over Under Sideways Down', 'For Your Love' and 'Happenings Ten Years Time Ago' and we have five copies to give away...

To get your hands on a copy of the Making Tracks CD just answer this idiotically simple question...

What band did Jimmy Page go on to form immediately after the Yardbirds demise?
