

Charlie Casanova

You Don't Know Him But He Already Hates You

A ruling class sociopath kills a working class girl in a hit and run and uses a deck of playing cards to determine their fate

Charlie Casanova is the critically acclaimed, highly controversial film from writer/director Terry McMahon. It's the story of an upper-class genius-level sociopath, Charlie Barnum. Charlie is an educated, fast-talking egotist, who refuses to be bound by the restrictions of morality, law, or even reality. When he kills a girl in a hit-and-run, he determines his fate with a deck of cards.
