“CORPORATE ROCK STILL SUCKS!”

...a motto that the punk generation would certainly agree with. Flashback to the late 1970's and early 1980's where an American punk band known as the Dead Kennedys paved the way for a new music generation.

This 30 minute DVD features the seminal punk band Dead Kennedys, live from their early years at various venues including the Mabuhay Gardens, the Sproul Plaza at Berkeley and at Target Studios between 1978 through 1981. Much of the material is from the classic & critically acclaimed debut LP "Fresh Fruit for Rotting Vegetables." In addition to 9 live songs, there is also hilarious news footage from Jello Biafra's notorious mayoral candidacy in San Francisco (In which he came in fourth!).

Special DVD features include a Sing-a-long option, band biographies, Dolby Digital Stereo and a chapter search by songs.
