In the short time it existed, the Charles Ford Band gained a reputation as an electrifying live act - especially because of its extended, acoustic jam sessions, something that ran counter to the fashion at the time. The musicians could improvise for a good half hour around a soul song or a motif by jazz pioneer John Coltrane. Muddy Waters invited them to open for him in San Francisco, and was so impressed that he recommended them to Chicago's famous Chess label. However, the group split up before they signed. Nevertheless, the blues enthusiasts at Arhoolie Records managed to bring the quartet back together in 1972 to record something for posterity, an album called The Charles Ford Band.

Track List: It's Hot, Watch Yourself, She's Sweet, Don't Cry, Crazy For My Baby, I Smell Trouble, Lovin' Cup, Bring It to Jerome, Cadillac, Tell Me Mama
