NEW YORK, NEW YORK - PRETTY UGLY!

Before you give that a Bronx Cheer, know that two of MVD's August releases have the Big Apple at their core. Start spreading the news, as the MVD Marquee Collection releases the Martin Scorsese directed NEW YORK, NEW YORK for the first time on 4K UHD! Robert DeNiro and Liza Minelli star as post-WWII entertainers, in love and in competition as they navigate the cutthroat show biz world in the '40s. You may remember the title song, NEW YORK, NEW YORK, made into a hit by a guy from New Jersey! A grittier NY City in the late '80s birthed the LUNACHICKS, whose wild ride on the punk rock express is chronicled in PRETTY UGLY: THE STORY OF THE LUNACHICKS, available on DVD and Blu-ray. The all-female punk rock band set the template for later outfits like L7. PRETTY UGLY comes hot on the hi-heels on the Lunachicks Record Store Day sold out release, WE CAN BE WORSTER. And what can be better than that!

Infidelity gets the hi-fidelity treatment in two 4K restorations from RADIANCE. You'll like to watch THE MAGNIFICENT CUCKOLD, a cheat-fest among two unsuspecting partners, while TEN WOMEN IN BLACK conspire to murder an unfaithful husband. One wife, nine mistresses, one big problem!

Battling against censorship for our right to revel in what some say is bad taste was Larry Flynt, the hillbilly high priest of Hustler magazine. Witness courtroom and real-life drama as Woody Harrelson (as Flynt) rose as an unlikely defender of Free Speech. See it all unfold in this Oliver Stone directed opus THE PEOPLE VS. LARRY FLYNT.

The stars are out in IDENTITY, an Agatha Christie type mystery finding ten strangers stranded in a motel where sleep can be permanent! We'll turn off the light for ya! Stars Roy Liotta and John Cusack. TROY is an adaptation of Homer's epic poem starring Brad Pitt. More infidelity here, as the married Helen of Sparta elopes with a Trojan prince. Better PACK those Trojans! Jean-Claude Van Damme is an undercover cop who tries to blow the cover of a prison organ harvesting ring (!), using all the patented Van Damme brains and brawn in the 4K/Blu-ray combo DEATH WARRANT.

Musically speaking, former Journey bassist ROSS VALORY returns with an LP and CD ALL OF THE ABOVE, which describes the musical palette on this eclectic disc. Also features former Journey and Tubes drummer Prairie Prince. And belting the blues is a new CD from the Queen, JOANNA CONNOR and her first live album LIVE ON 11/11.

The Good, the Bad and the Ugly. ALL GREAT!

The long-awaited debut solo album by Rock & Roll Hall of Fame bass player Ross Valory is a culmination of over fifty years of creativity. While best known for his massive career with Journey, Valory proves he is much more than just a bass player on this project. For this solo venture, Valory developed a repertory company of stellar musicians, including: Prairie Prince (Journey, The Tubes) Karl Perazzo (Santana) Marc Russo (Doobie Brothers, Yellowjackets) Eric Levy (Night Ranger) Jacob Stowe (Engineer) The album, titled "All of the Above," explores a far broader instrumental territory than Valory's work with Journey, leaning into Jazz/Fusion, he showcases his versatility by playing keyboards and guitar in addition to his signature bass across a diverse musical palette. A Multi-Sensory Experience, the 10-track album features a wide range of styles, from the Latin-fired intensity of "Wild Kingdom" and the romantic "No One Wins a War" to a partying homage to War on "Low Rider" and a brilliant reprise of Santana's "Incident at Neshabur." Adding a visual dimension to the music, every title on the album has by a video directed and co-created by Michael Cotten and Ross. "All of the Above" is described by Valory as a true labor of love that honors his extensive experience while pointing toward his musical future. As Ross himself suggests for the best listening experience: "Turn off your phone, wind up the cat, throw out the clock, close your eyes, and listen to the entire album."

J. Montelli's three trios for flute, clarinet and viola unite classical proportion, timbral clarity and finely balanced chamber dialogue.

J. Montelli's three trios for flute, clarinet and viola form a chamber cycle of lucid classical proportion. Without piano, each line bears structural responsibility as melody and support circulate between the instruments, producing transparent blends and subtle contrasts of grain. Across Allegros, Adagios and Rondos, the trio becomes measure, invention and a miniature theatre of timbre.

This cello programme links chaconnes, passacaglias and viola bastarda, uniting ostinato form, virtuosity and early-modern freedom.

Built around Baroque works transcribed for unaccompanied cello, this album joins chaconnes, passacaglias and the viola bastarda tradition. Basso ostinato and inventive virtuosity, cultivated across early modern Europe, reveal the cello as both singer and continuo. Fixed structure and improvisatory freedom remain in dialogue, reviving an art of roaming across registers, traditions and borders.

Erios Jazz Orchestra - Round Wheeler CD

Round Wheeler surveys Kenny Wheeler's long-form art, where orchestral colour, memory and improvisatory breath are shaped into structure.

In Round Wheeler, Kenny Wheeler's catalogue appears in its broadest vocation: long-form thinking, orchestral colour and memory transfigured into structure. At the centre stands The Sweet Time Suite, whose eight panels form a narrative span, while Kayak and Sophie confirm Wheeler's gift for joining songful line to oblique harmony, so jazz becomes writing without losing the breath of improvisation.

Federica Bertot & Emanuele Sartoris - Sinestesia CD

Sinestesia unfolds as a four-panel cycle where sound becomes sensuous matter and synaesthesia serves as a structural principle of form.

Sinestesia unfolds as a four-panel cycle - Extra, Cashmere, Danza, Salina - where synaesthesia is not decorative metaphor but structural law. Sound is treated as sensuous matter that touches, illuminates, scents and settles, while form links heterogeneous sensations into a continuous dramaturgy of density, temperature and grain, shaping a single imagistic sonic landscape of perception and memory.

Échos mirrors Goulam and Field in a piano diptych where energy, resonance, memory and living tonality continually interact with nuance.

◆/oochos sketches a mirrored piano landscape, bringing together Sharad Goulam and Gabriel Field, two contemporary voices linked by a living sense of tonality, modal inflection and eloquent dissonance. Conceived for Fiona and Chiara Alaimo, the programme forms a diptych of reflections: on one side energy crystallised into form, on the other song suspended into memory and after-sound.

Fisherman - Metamorphosis CD

After years of shaping his sound on dancefloors worldwide, Fisherman unveils his long-awaited debut album METAMORPHOSIS.

Fusing two generations of artistry along a single conceptual thread, Fisherman (Isaac Vissers) lands his debut album with a project as deeply rooted in family as it is in music. 'Metamorphosis' takes inspiration from a series of twelve graphic works created in the early 90s by Isaac's father, painter Jack Vissers, with the meaning of each canvas now reinterpreted as a corresponding piece of music.

Geins't Nait & Lø - Tomoko CD

New album by French avantgarde Industrial group Geins't Nait

Geins't Nait was founded in Nancy, France, in 1986. Their sound is often described as an equivalent of bands like Einstürzende Neubauten, Coil or Test Dept., but Geins't Nait is not pure classic Industrial. Their music is raw and fascinating, and largely influenced by Surrealists and Situationists.

Luca Pincini - G.O.M.P.: Four Cinematic Voices For Solo Cello CD

G.O.M.P. brings together four cinematic voices for solo cello, where silence, resonance and memory become the patient grammar of form.

G.O.M.P.: Four Cinematic Voices for Solo Cello unites Glass, ōEshima, Morricone and Pincini under a single sign: the space between sounds, where resonance turns into thought and memory. More than an anthology, it is a coherent polyptych that places cinema and concert hall in dialogue without confusing their grammars, shaping a theatre of distances in which form becomes a grammar of waiting.

Luigi Manfrin - Luigi Manfrin: Loo(p)cy CD

This album is a retrospective view of Luigi Manfrin's compositional journey, not by a chronological order, but identifying loops within his oeuvre.

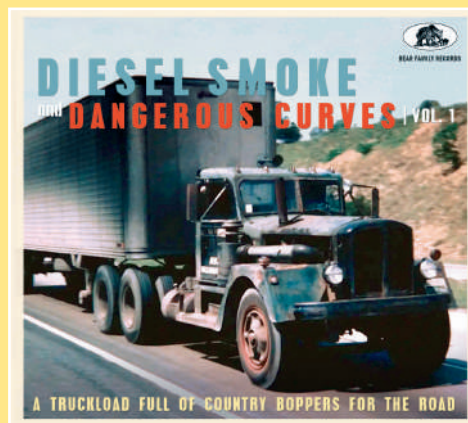

This album is intended to be a retrospective view of Luigi Manfrin's compositional journey. Rather than following a chronological order, it identifies loops that run through his musical production. The unity of the album lies not in the identity of its materials, but in the constant questioning of that threshold whereby sound emerges, transforms and tends towards its own inaudibility.

WDR Big Band & Sean Jones - Jagged Edges & Elegant Lines: The Music of Ayn Inserto

The awesome big sound of the historic WDR Big Band with critically acclaimed Sean Jones out front playing the genius of Ayn Inserto! A Can't Miss!

GENRE: Jazz/Large Ensemble/WDR Big Band

COMPOSERS: Ayn Inserto, Sean Jones

An oversimplified way of describing her writing, the comment feels less like a limitation than a kind of generosity - Ayn often minimizes her own compositional voice to highlight the music and the musicians around her. I've known Ayn for over 30 years and I have played a lot of her music. Hearing her work realized "live" by the WDR Big Band is both a personal pleasure and a reminder of how she has constantly been developing her musical voice. Her writing is unapologetic, rhythmically insistent, and built on a language she has refined over time.

Jagged Edges & Elegant Lines is an apropos description of that voice. The phrase is not decorative - it is structural. Her music lives in the tension between those two ideas. The edges are sharp, often angular, driven by horn stabs, bass line interruptions, and unexpected rhythmic resolutions. But the lines they form - across ensemble writing, across form, across time - are surprisingly continuous. What feels fragmented in the moment is part of the master plan. Her compositional identity is built on controlled friction.

Sean Jones is an American trumpeter and composer featured on the 2007 Grammy Award-winning album by Nancy Wilson. As a bandleader, Jones has released eight albums. He performs with his own groups both nationally and internationally. Jones actively tours venues and festivals. Sean Jones is universally celebrated by critics and jazz fans as a trumpet virtuoso with a strong upper register, brilliant articulation, and a rich, lyrical, and fiery tone

WDR Big Band is the jazz big band of German public broadcaster Westdeutscher Rundfunk (WDR) in Cologne, Germany.

Greg Abate & Bill O'Connell & Harvie S & Steve Johns - In The Moment

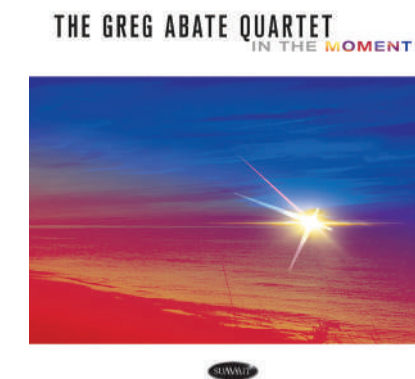

Critically acclaimed sax-man, Greg Abate with a group of world-class seasoned musicians on a dynamic jazz quartet recording! ENJOY!

Genre: Jazz/Saxophone/Jazz Quartet
Composers: Greg Abate, Bill O'Connell

Realization (Living the Dash) came on September 11, 2001, as a response to the day the Twin Towers were destroyed. The subtitle reflects the dash between birth and death--the span of our lives. The Little Men was written in early 2001 and recorded on Evolution for my two sons. Watching them grow into adulthood has been one of life's greatest joys. All Or Nothin' was written in the time of Covid being leary of a resurgence in back to normal life as in live gigs and touring and in person lessons and classes and a sense of not giving up. I would just go ahead with a positive attitude. Kerry's Song is dedicated to my loving partner. Kerry always a source of support, inspiration, and love. This new composition celebrates her beauty, strength, and the success of her own business. Black Sea, written by Pianist Bill O'Connell lends a vibe of high intensity and different personality holding a great melody and harmonic sequence. He told me that he thought it had a vibe like Wayne Shorter's tune "Black Nile" hence "Black Sea". In the Moment was composed during the COVID pandemic in my studio, where I found solace at the piano. It reflects the somber, contemplative mood of a world paused, and the longing for live music to return.

CCA is a reharmonized shuffle blues that honors my late father, Charles Carmine Abate, whose encouragement shaped my career. His suggestion to gig at a jazz club in Hartford, CT, opened doors to new venues and influential musicians. Angelic honors my daughter, Jessica, whose grace, talent, and spirit fill me with pride... it is a celebration of her essence. She has it all! Into Somewhere is a contrafact on the chord changes Out Of Nowhere!

Marco Angioloni & Ensemble Il Groviglio - Il Canto Della Nutrice: Nurse Tenor Arias In Italian Baroque Opera CD

Marco Angioloni and Il Groviglio revive the nurses of seventeenth-century opera, balancing comic wit, conscience and unusual beauty.

This debut album by baroque tenor Marco Angioloni and his ensemble Il Groviglio explores a lesser-known aspect of seventeenth-century opera: the figure of the nurse. By retracing arias from Cavalli, Cesti, Melani, Sartorio and Scarlatti, the programme reveals a character by turns comic, dramatic and morally reflective, while introducing a singer and ensemble of expressive and stylistic quality.

Michele Castaldo - Rachmaninov: Etudes-tableaux Op. 39, Sonata No. 2 In B Flat Minor, Op. 36 CD

Rachmaninov's Études-Tableaux op. 39 and Sonata no. 2, transcribed for guitar, recast mass and resonance as line, polyphony and perspective.

Rachmaninov's Études-Tableaux op. 39 and Sonata no. 2 in B flat minor op. 36 pair the nine Études with the Sonata's 1931 revision, presenting the composer as visionary and architect. Transcribed for guitar, the music undergoes a true timbral translation: keyboard density and resonance become string polyphony, altered decay and oblique perspective, so that mass turns into line and colour into space.

Oscar Del Barba reimagines Verdi through contemporary jazz, creating visionary new works rather than merely dressing famous themes in swing.

This CD approaches Verdi not through "jazzy" arrangement but through true re-creation. Inspired by themes and airs from some of the most famous operas, pianist and composer Oscar Del Barba transforms them into something new, where contemporary jazz languages meet a compositional imagination indebted to Frank Zappa. The result is an unconventional, risky and strikingly original encounter.

Ruan Lu - Chopin: Andante Spianato, Grande Polonaise Brillante & Ballades CD

Chopin's Andante spianato and four Ballades trace a narrative piano world where memory, transformation and musical destiny converge.

Within Chopin's poetic world, the piano becomes both song and narrative. The Andante spianato and Grande Polonaise brillante op. 22 opens from unbroken cantabile into public gesture touched by nostalgia, while the four Ballades form a novelistic arc in which episodes and returns change like characters. Here classical dialectic dissolves into transformation, and narrative turns into destiny.

Will Wood - Slouching Towards Branson Indie Exclusive DVD

Musical alt-comic Will Wood weaves off-kilter songs with a darkly absurdist story about drugs, rats, timeshares, and "coming to terms with disorder."

To explain his return to the stage after a post-viral nervous breakdown, singer-songwriter and comedian Will Wood intertwines oddball yet emotional piano-shredding songs with a darkly absurdist, drug-addled, rat-filled, spiritually-confused "about as true as a true story can be while still being a story" story about psychedelics, timeshare presentations, and the end of the world.

Lunachicks - Pretty Ugly: The Story Of The Lunachicks

A raw documentary chronicling the rise, fall, and legacy of NYC punk band the Lunachicks and their wild, influential journey.

Pretty Ugly: The Story of the Lunachicks is a raw and energetic documentary that traces the rise, fall, and enduring legacy of the Lunachicks, one of New York City's most unapologetic and influential punk bands. Emerging from the late-1980s underground scene, the all-female group built a reputation for their outrageous performances, sharp humor, and fiercely independent spirit, helping to redefine the role of women in punk rock.

Through archival footage, candid interviews, and behind-the-scenes stories, the film explores the band's rapid ascent during the 1990s, as well as the personal and professional challenges that threatened to tear them apart. Struggles with relationships, creative tensions, and the pressures of life on the road ultimately led to their breakup around the turn of the millennium.

More than just a music documentary, the film captures the band's lasting cultural impact and the deep bond shared between its members. As the Lunachicks reflect on their past and reconnect in the present, Pretty Ugly becomes a story of friendship, resilience, and the enduring power of punk rock.

Carl Verheyen - Promised Future

The Carl Verheyen Band's new album "Promised Future" is a working, touring band at its peak. Hear the shared joy in 9 songs, 8 studio & 1 live!

Over the last 38 years I've released albums under my own name as well as Carl Verheyen Band albums. In my way of thinking, there's a big difference. The delineation rises out of the camaraderie and spirit that comes from weeks and even years on the road. Imagine leaving on a month-long tour and realizing you're about to have the next 90 meals with each other as you travel the next 9,000 miles together. If you still good friends after all that, you truly have something special. And I believe that brother and sisterhood, plus the shared joy of hearing the music in the air each night makes it a BAND.

"Promised Future" has 7 original songs that we've road tested before recording, which I believe is a privilege. Rick Davies from Supertramp would always lament that, "it's too bad that the record is a demo for the tour," as the music got better and deeper with repeated performances night after night. Rick was a dear friend and a real mentor to me ever since 1985 when I joined Supertramp, and sadly we lost him in 2025. So we recorded an 8 minute version of "Take the Long Way Home" live in concert and included it along with a song from another of my heroes, the late Jesse Colin Young. I wrote to Jesse as a teenage guitarist / fanboy, asking if I could play in his band. Amazingly he wrote me back and I still have that letter! "People let your light shine" are the beautiful lyrics he left us with, and we in the CVB all felt it was the perfect way to end "Promised Future."

RADIANCE

New York, New York (Collector's Edition) [4K Ultra HD]

A jazz saxophonist and a singer fall in love post-WWII, but fame and ambition strain their romance in this stylized 1940s musical drama.

Directed by Martin Scorsese, New York, New York is a bold and stylized musical drama set in the euphoric aftermath of World War II, blending classic Hollywood spectacle with modern emotional realism. The film follows the volatile relationship between Jimmy Doyle, a fiercely independent jazz saxophonist played by Robert De Niro, and Francine Evans, an ambitious and immensely talented singer portrayed by Liza Minnelli.

Against the vibrant, meticulously recreated backdrop of 1940s New York, the two artists rise through the competitive world of show business, navigating the intoxicating highs of success and the painful strains of personal ambition. Their romance is marked by intense chemistry as well as deep conflict, with clashing personalities and creative differences threatening to unravel both their relationship and their careers.

This collector's edition presents the expanded cut of New York, New York newly restored from a 16-bit 4K scan of the original camera negative, showcased in 2160p Ultra HD with HDR in its original 1.66:1 aspect ratio. The release features both DTS-HD 5.1 surround and LPCM 2.0 stereo audio options, along with optional English subtitles.

The extensive bonus material includes an introduction by Martin Scorsese and a full-length audio commentary with Scorsese and critic Carrie Rickey. The accompanying Blu-ray disc offers the international version of the film, along with in-depth documentaries such as The New York, New York Stories (Parts One and Two), a featurette focusing on Liza Minnelli's performance, alternate takes and deleted scenes, and a cinematography-focused commentary by László Kovács. Additional materials include a photo gallery, theatrical teaser and trailer, and reversible artwork, making this a definitive edition of one of Scorsese's most ambitious and visually distinctive works.

Trhä - Novej Qalhnjënno CS

An atmospheric, raw black-metal journey: Novej blends harsh riffs and cosmic synths into an alien, melancholic, and deeply immersive sonic experience

Novej marks a remarkable evolution for Trhä. The album surpasses traditional black metal, creating a soundscape where lo-fi aggression intertwines with celestial, dreamlike melodies. Using an invented language and atmospheres that evoke distant worlds, the work immerses the listener in an alien embrace, suspended between video game nostalgia and cosmic darkness--a true portal to another dimension.
