ESCAPE TO NEW YORK!

Why escape FROM New York when you can escape TO New York with two films that'll transport you to gritty streets, punk rock and gang warfare without leaving the safety of your abode! Seventies gangs are the subject of THE WARRIORS, with a new limited edition 4K and Blu-ray from Arrow Video. Falsely accused of murdering a rival gang leader, the Warriors must safely flee the Bronx back to their Coney Island turf. Which is a challenge we still face today! Includes the theatrical cut and the 2005 Alternate version along with a plethora of extras. Can you dig it?

MONDO NEW YORK, the underground film about underground life in 1980s NYC is released on vinyl, Blu-ray and DVD. Features losers, outcasts, perverts and lunatics-celebrating the Rotten Core of the Big Apple! We can almost smell it!

You can ENTER THE VIDEO STORE again, as the 5-disc Blu-ray box is re-released. This box includes five cult classics from director Charles Band. Hollywood decadence abounds in THE DAY OF THE LOCUST starring legends Karen Black, Burgess Meredith and Donald Sutherland. Desperate living and dark relationships in Tinseltown! Dark is the theme from Severin Films. COUNT DRACULA stars Christopher Lee in a Jess Franco directed remake, VAMPIR-CUADECUS is a candid documentary on COUNT DRACULA and DOCTOR BUTCHER M.D./ZOMBIE HOLOCAUST is 4-disc Blu-ray- a 'gut-munching, eye-gouging face chopping masterpiece.'

88 Films continues their fight with two Kung Fu blurays. THE LONG ARM OF THE LAW 1&2 is a two-disc set starring Academy Award winner Michelle Yeoh and THE INSPECTOR WEARS SKIRTS finds females and males fighting with each other, then joining together to fight a gang of thieves.

Punk rock icons THE DWARVES are feeling tall with their latest CONCEPT ALBUM. Available in black and an indie exclusive dark blue variant, CONCEPT ALBUM explodes with 'high production value and low brow humor!' Jamaican cultural hero LEE SCRATCH PERRY looks down from HEAVEN on this last release before his passing, available on CD and vinyl and more unearthed treasures from the DAVE BRUBECK QUARTET arrive on the CD LIVE FROM THE NORTHWEST, 1959. Recorded by the legendary Wally Heider, who pioneered remote recording. Kick out the jazz!

Day Job - The Auger Vinyl

DAY JOB emerge with their debut full length, "The Auger- 10 songs of big riffs, sludgy bass, and morose heaviness

DAY JOB's debut LP, "The Auger" is a 10-song crusher of big riffs, sludgy bass, and morose heaviness. The band has developed beyond their earlier KARP/Unsane worship and added unsettling melodies, moments of trance-like repetition akin to the members' other work in Null, as well as the tasteful use of various effects pedals to add texture and emphasis to these otherwise hammering songs.

Infernalizer - After Dark Vinyl

Horror metal act INFERNALIZER returns with a brand new album rooted in 80's metal & prone to arena rock choruses reminiscent of horror movies themes..

Horror metal act INFERNALIZER returns with a brand new album: a constant balancing between aggressive moments and gothic atmospheres properly supported by deep crooning vocals and more irated outbursts. Deeply rooted in 80's metal and often prone to arena rock choruses the overall mood remains eerie and nocturnal especially when it comes to the use of keyboards reminiscent of horror movie themes.

Regularly active in upstate NY between 1969 and 1974, Compass was an acoustic-electric quartet that played original music and modern jazz standards.

When artists self-releases their own recordings, they do so in the hopes that a hit might develop, or even better, a sphere of influence might form. In a lot of cases these records provide a stamp of existence and intent - a sonic business card showing what musicians were made of.

The goal was to create a direct relationship between the voice and the listener, which acoustic instruments allow, especially the kora Djeli Moussa Condé, the music traveller, pays homage to the mother continent and Mama Africa - the song as well as the whole album to which it gives its title - tells this unflinching passion. Djeli Moussa sings about all of this very intimately, his voice overlaid on an elegant acoustic weaving entwined by the percussionist and multi-instrumentalist Gérald Bonnegrace.

MX-80 Sound Better Than Life

Brand new album by cult noise rock band MX-80 Sound mixed by Steve Albini

MX-80 Sound is an eclectic American art-rock band founded in 1974 in Bloomington, USA, by guitarist Bruce Anderson. Considered one of the most out of step but prescient bands of its time, MX-80's signature sound consists of breakneck metallic guitar combined with atonal chord structure, cross-rhythmic percussion and dispassionate vocals. Notoriously difficult to categorize--the band has been labeled noise rock, post-punk, acid punk, and heavy-metal--MX-80's sonic melange set the stage for bands such as Swans, Sonic Youth, Codeine, and Shellac. After a musical journey spanning five decades, MX-80 Sound announces the release of their final opus, "Better Than Life," featuring MX-80's dense, extra-beefy sound, emotional guitar work, and free-associative vocals. For the album Bruce Anderson merged his rock trio, Rattletrap, with the talents of MX-80 Sound resulting in big bang sonics including two drummers (Nico Sophiea and John Morman), two bassists (Dale Sophiea and Chris Xefos), and two guitars (Bruce Anderson and Jim Hrabetin), along with vocals and horn by Rich Stim. In a remarkable feat, "Better Than Life" was recorded amidst the COVID-19 lockdown at 25th Street Recording in Oakland with Matt Boudreau engineering. The album was mixed by Steve Albini, in collaboration with MX-80 Sound, at Electrical Studios in Chicago. Sadly, Bruce Anderson, MX-80 Sound's founder, died in 2022.

The Residents Sam's Enchanted Evening

A one-man theatrical performance by The Residents re-interpreting popular songs from the 20th century

The Residents are an American art collective best known for their over 60 studio albums that were recorded over a period of over forty years. They also created some outstanding multimedia works, mainly three CD ROM projects and ten DVDs. Working as an anonymous collective, their identities were kept secret until in 2017 Hardy Fox revealed himself as their primary composer. Hardy died in October 2018, but the group continue to record and perform. Sam's Enchanted Evening is a theatrical performance by Randy Rose, lead singer of The Residents. It was performed between October 2011 and March 2012 in Berkeley, California and New York City. Rose's only companion on stage was long-time Residents collaborator Joshua Raoul Brody on piano. A one-man cabaret performance consisting largely of re-interpreted renditions of popular songs from the mid-to-late 20th century, interpreted by Rose in the guise of "Sam the Stranger", it was the first Residents-related performance piece to be credited to an individual member of the group.

Six Foot Six - Beggar's Hill CD

Swedish steel!

Pure anthemic heavy metal at its best: 'Beggar's Hill' is the third Six Foot Six record and the most coherent of their works until this date. Influenced by classic bands such as Iron Maiden, Judas Priest and Metallica, it's a guitar and vocal melody-driven album, but still with a powerful up-to-date sound.

Spotlight On Leroy Kirkland: Good Gracious CD

The album focus on the up-tempo titles he orchestrated and arranged during the four-year period 1954 through to 1958.

Leroy Edward Kirkland aka Claude Cloud was primarily a jazz and rhythm & blues guitarist, who also worked behind the scenes as; a composer, conductor, session leader, and arranger. He is largely unknown to the general public and media-wise he is mainly confined to the annals of musical history, and his importance to 1950s music is not overtly acknowledged.

The Burrito Brothers - Christmas

The Burrito Brothers have now completed an album with Christmas as a theme. It's influenced by everything they've ever heard and loved. Merry Xmas.

'Twas the night before Christmas and all through the heart was a group called Burrito Brothers there from the start.

Today, after more than 50 years of continuous re-invention, they are still going strong. Amazing, really.

Today's Burritos are passionately dedicated to their craft. They're "the older guys" who show us "what it's all about." There's a gentle, giant well they draw water from. These pros know a lot about making beautiful, artistic recordings. They know how to rock out too.

The Burrito Brothers have now completed an album with Christmas as a theme. It's influenced by everything they've ever heard and loved. Listen, please.
Merry Christmas.

This time around, truth be told, it's sort of psychedelic. The Who and The Beatles get planted in the Burrito Brothers garden. Glen Campbell and Buck Owens were already there. The influences, too many to list, are always cool to find as the Burrito Brother's music unfolds. There's a lot there if you've got the heart to check it out.

This is not your father's Burrito Brothers. Too many have departed. But everybody who's ever been a BB was the right guy then and there. That's how it's always been. They continue to inject new blood into the old group. Bright new talent and ideas mixed with such rich history is a winning combination.

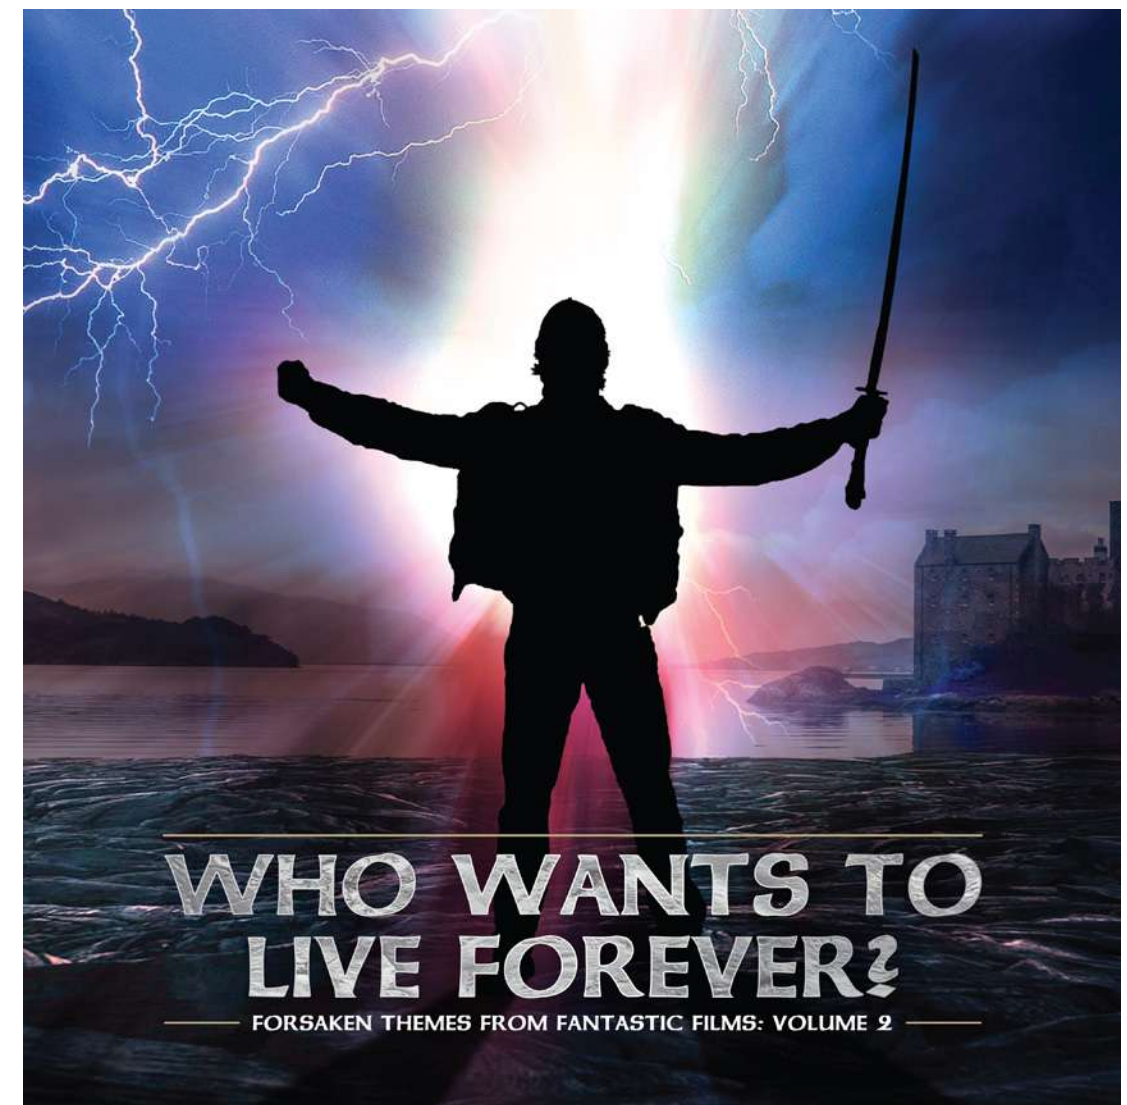

Gram Parsons told A&M interviewer, Chuck Casell in 1972, "The Burrito Brothers? The idea'll keep going... Whether I do it or anybody else does, it's got to keep going." Here's a fine example of how it continues...

London is fear struck, and Scotland Yard is baffled by a series of strange murders that have plagued the city. Stories of the atrocities, by crime journalists Edmond Bancroft (Michael Gough -- yes, the same loveable 'Alfred Pennyworth' from the new Batman movies), come to their own conclusions missed by the "Yard". That Uncertain Feeling

A nasty bout with hiccups pits 'wife against husband' in this robust comedy.

One of those light pleasant comedies where Lubitsch capitalizes on the 'husband vs wife' theme. Jill and Larry Baker have been living in marital bliss for six years...that is, until Jill develops a nasty bout with the hiccups. Exhausting all remedies to no avail and believing her problem to be psychosomatic, Jill takes the advice of friends and seeks the help of a psychiatrist. This leads to disenchantment with her husband, Larry, causing marital mayhem, when she becomes romantically involved with an eccentric pianist named Alexander Sebastian, who favors himself 'the greatest pianist in the world', only, Sebastian, is terrified of performing in front of large audiences! Hilarity abounds in this robust comedy, as Larry strives to win back his estranged wife and in turn, Jill comes to the realization she still loves Larry.

Apple Seed (Special Edition)

A man picks up a hitchhiking ex-convict while on a cross-country road trip to rob his hometown bank.

Prince Mccoy, now a worn down man in his 40s, living far from both the small idyllic east coast town of Apple Seed where he grew up and all the dreams he once had, finds himself suddenly without a home, a girlfriend and as of 4:32 PM, without a living father. Holding his childhood bank responsible for the foreclosure on their properties and his father's demise, Prince in a final desperate go-out-on-his-sword move makes the choice to drive across the country to make his small town bank pay. With a 1967 Mustang, a loaded gun and not much else, Prince has to rely on the help of an eccentric 80 something year old hitchhiker named Carl Robbins he meets on the edge of town. With a bucket list mission of his own drafted out on a napkin, Carl begins to lead Prince on a journey that starts to stray from any conventional route the younger man would have ever taken. Crossing paths with a struggling singer, a lonely waitress, a teenage runaway and even the love of Prince's life he once let get away, the road continues to unfold before them as do their own fears and struggles within. After a late-night brawl with some Midwest bar locals, Carl reveals to his younger companion Prince that he is actually only days removed from a 40-year prison sentence he served for robbing a bank himself. As the pair move closer and closer to Prince's final destination, having to rely on their feet and even freight trains to get them there, Carl's past begins to look more and more like Prince's future. Facing the teller he robbed, a partner in crime he left near-dying on the street many years ago and finally another man that he left as a young child to a rather lonely world, Carl's own destiny begins to close in on him as well. The men with two separate destinations that may not be as far apart as they once thought, have one final crossroad to face together in the small town of Apple Seed before their journeys are finished....

Now he writes death metal love songs by BB's grave - until his restless solitude is shattered when space aliens invade Earth and turn the dead into an army of zombie killers. Battling to save BB from becoming a puppet to alien masters and his own desire to resurrect his lost love, Tom has to dodge bullets, legions of zombies, aliens, death-rays, and global apocalypse. This highly original festival-award-winning film is the first of its kind to feature the animation of hand puppets in the same style that child-sized toy puppeteers have done in toy commercials over the past two decades.

Stella Maris (1918)

Mary Pickford plays dual roles in a film that is very different from anything she had ever done before.

Stella Maris was a major advancement in filmmaking. Mary Pickford plays dual roles in a film that is very different from anything she had ever done before. It tells the story of two, very different young women; a beautiful, rich, but crippled Stella Maris and Unity Blake, a deformed and abused orphan. Director, Marshall Neilan, and cinematographer Walter Stradling created some trick photography for Mary to play both roles, using double exposure photography and complex editing which made it possible to present both characters on screen simultaneously.

The Mary Pickford Foundation and the Paramount Film Archive partnered to access all elements available in the Pickford collections both at the UCLA Film & Television Archive and at the Library of Congress. Even though the archives were shut down during the pandemic, all parties cooperated to send the film elements to Paramount so they could be scanned in 4K resolution and commence work on the restoration.

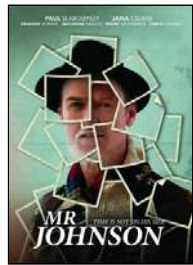

The two primary elements used in this restoration were a 1967 35mm B&W Dupe Negative and an incomplete 1925 35mm Tinted Print. Scans from the Dupe Negative were used for the majority of the feature, and all surviving material from the print was inserted where possible. New inter-titles were digitally recreated for the Dupe Negative to match the feel and length of the Print, as the cards in the Negative were static and much longer than originally intended. The tinting scheme of the Print was used for all evening sequences: amber for night interiors and blue for night exteriors, with the rest of the feature B&W for all daytime sequences. Lastly, all the most egregious damage was digitally repaired, the film's printed-in jitter was stabilized, and the film's frame-rate was digitally varisped to 19fps, mirroring a more natural, hand-cranked projection speed suitable for 1918, the year of the film's release.

Rape Is A Circle

Catherine is a deeply troubled woman who picks up two female hitchhikers and then subjects them to experiences that they will never be able to forget.

Catherine is a deeply troubled woman who picks up two female hitchhikers and then drugs them, tortures them, and subjects them to experiences that they will never be able to forget, that is, if they survive. Rape is a Circle has been out of print for a while, even though it was one of the director's best-selling movies. One of the reasons for that was because the movie was going to be completely re-filmed. Misty Mundae agreed to play the part of the demented character Catherine. The project was delayed. During that time, almost everything that could go wrong went wrong, and could not get back on track. The original movie was selling for as high as $700 on auction sites. Fans begged for a re-release. Finally, in 2023, the director examined the footage and decided to re-edit the movie for a director's cut. It is more artistic than the first version. Behind-the-scenes footage and bloopers have been unearthed. The director was reluctant to share bloopers in the past because he feared that this would reduce the tension a viewer felt during the rewatching of the movie. Fans, however, clamored for it, and the director consented.
