A LOT 2 LOVE IN FEBRUARY!

The second month brings a double shot of Jean-Claude Van Damme love, as the MVD REWIND Collection issues two collector's editions of the Action films DOUBLE IMPACT and KNOCK OFF. The DOUBLE IMPACT Blu-ray and 4K 2-disc combo stars Van Damme playing dual twin brother roles, united in fight! The KNOCK OFF 4K/Blu-ray features a pair of unlikely cohorts, a fashion designer, and a C.I.A. Agent, coupled in a battle against terrorism. Music by the band Sparks ignites this explosive flick! Deluxe editions loaded with bonus features!

Before novelist-turned-filmmaker Michael Crichton went Jurassic (as in 'Park'), he directed WESTWORLD, a futurist film centered around a Wild West theme park acted out by robots. Trouble arrives when a malfunction leads to one robotic gunslinger hell bent on a shootout with the guests! Man vs. Machine. Yul (ahem) love Yul Brynner in the lead role. From ARROW VIDEO on two formats, 4K and Blu-ray.

Experience the magic of EXCALIBUR on two limited edition formats, 4K and Blu-ray. Loaded with three discs of feature films and bonus content, the story of the 'Sword of Power,' King Arthur, the knights of the round table and Merlin the Magician will leave you spellbound!

RADIANCE FILMS shines with a pair of limited edition Blu-rays. THE JAPANESE GODFATHER is a power struggle between the old and new yakuza ways. IPHIGENIA is a Greek tragedy with a father's impossible decision to atone for killing a sacred deer.

88 FILMS has dual releases, DUEL TO THE DEATH (Chinese and Japanese for sword superiority) and SHE SHOOTS STRAIGHT, where a police officer fights two deadly propositions-battling a Vietnamese gang and trying to impress her new in-laws! I know what I would choose!

Two BLASTERS releases on LP and CD are finally available again. THE BLASTERS self-titled second and their last with the original lineup HARD LINE. Igniting the flame of a 'multi-genre musical odyssey,' well-traveled guitar maestro DUKE ROBILLARD releases "BLAST OFF" on CD and LP.

February is the LOVE month, and this month we have DARLENE LOVE, with a vinyl debut release of LIVE 1982. The Rock and Roll Hall of Famer revisits the legendary hits that defined her still continuing career, including "Da Doo Ron Ron," "He's a Rebel" and "(Today I) Met the Boy I'm Gonna Marry." What's not to Love about Darlene?

So open the book-on the double!

That same lead-heavy stomp is present and accounted for here, but the paces KARLOFF go through are undeniably moodier and murkier; if there wasn't a sense of stifled violence here, it would almost be accurate to call LP#2 "sludgy."

Not Fragile - One Way To Glory Vinyl

Amazing power/speed metal album from 1989! First official release, previous editions under different names were bootlegs.

One of the best hard-luck stories in the history of German heavy metal, NOT FRAGILE were active from 1980 to 1990. In 1989, the band would record their ill-fated debut album, One Way to Glory. The band's execution actually got even sharper as the riffing became a bit brighter and more melodic, and the cleaner production brought a triumphant gleam to NOT FRAGILE whilst sacrificing no heaviness.

Not Fragile - Who Dares Wins Vinyl

Speed/Power Metal from 1988, finally reissued on vinyl. One of Germany's earliest metal bands!

With surprising heaviness if not thrashiness, the band's 27-minute mini-album bore contemporaneous influence from the likes of Running Wild and Helloween nearby and Helstar and Liege Lord overseas.

DUKE ROBILLARD BLAST OFF!

AVAILABLE IN CD AND VINYL FORMATS

Woonsocket, RI, native Duke Robillard is a legacy blues artist who launched his career with Roomful of Blues in 1967, joined the Fabulous Thunderbirds, played with the Legendary Blues Band, was one-third of the New Guitar Summit, leads his own band and continues to do solo shows now at the age of 77. With over 35 of his own albums plus contributing to dozens more with other artists, Duke is a master of Blues, Swing, Jump Blues and Jazz, and has won the Best Blues Guitarist WC Handy Award twice. He is twice Grammy-nominated, has won four Blues Music Awards as Best Guitarist, four Maple Blues Awards for International Artist, the Keeping The Blues Alive Award for record production, and is ranked among the World's Best Blues Artists by DownBeat and Living Blues. As a session guitarist and producer, Duke has recorded with Bob Dylan, John Hammond, Ruth Brown, Billy Boy Arnold, Rosco Gordon, Jay McShann, Jimmy Witherspoon, Maria Muldaur, Pinetop Perkins, Joe Louis Walker, Johnny Adams and many more.

For his new album, Blast Off! with Duke Robillard and His All-Star Band, the guitar maestro has assembled a varied but mostly very traditional collection of many of the styles he's known for, including blues, swing, jazz, and R&B. This diversity represents his multi-faceted career and devotion to preserving these roots music styles. The twelve-track album contains three originals, including two instrumentals and an exciting piece concurrently historic and new, the first recording of a blues composition written by Robillard at the age of 17. He is joined on the project by Chris Cote on guitar and vocals, Bruce Bears on keyboards, bassist Marty Ballou and drummer Mark Teixeira. Doug James and Mark Earley are on sax, Jeff "Doc" Chanonhouse, trumpet on "You Rascal You," with special guest Billy Novick on clarinet and alto sax.

Karloff - Revered By Death CD

Album #2 combines the raw sound of the demos with the lead-heavy stomp of "The Appearing". Meaner and darker than ever before.

Hailing from Germany, KARLOFF return with their second full-length, Revered by Death. For sure, Revered by Death follows logically from The Appearing. That same lead-heavy stomp is present and accounted for here, but the paces KARLOFF go through are undeniably moodier and murkier; if there wasn't a sense of stifled violence here, it would almost be accurate to call LP#2 "sludgy."

Sacrifice - Total Steel CD

Japanese Thrash Metal - their 2nd album from 1990.

From their humble beginnings in 1985 Japan's SACRIFICE have stood for uncompromising, world-eating, thrashy METAL. Let's reiterate: thrashy heavy metal rather than pure thrash metal. Thick and viscous is their thrust, with straightforward songwriting and exceptionally mean delivery. However, it was with 1990's Total Steel where they'd perfect that signature style.

Sadness - Tortuga CS

Sadness fuses shimmering sorrow, crushing distortion, and vast atmospheres into a haunting blend of beauty and bleakness

Tortuga may not be the most accessible entry point into Sadness's discography. Still, it's arguably one of the most cohesive: a richly textured journey that rewards patience with moments of genuine beauty and cathartic intensity. Whether you come for the shoegaze-tinged cleans or the searing black-metal assaults, this album delivers a thoughtfully composed, emotionally resonant experience.

Muluken Mèllèssè - Ethiopiques 31

Muluken Mèllèssè leaves posterity with a clear idea of the level of sophistication and mastery that modern Ethiopian music has reached

Muluken Mèllèssè leaves posterity with a clear idea of the level of sophistication and mastery that modern Ethiopian music had reached before it was crushed under the military-Stalinist boot of the Derg. Betraying the singer's extreme youth (he was not yet 18 at the time), his angelic voice fooled more than one listener into thinking they were hearing a female singer.

It was Muluken who inaugurated the Ethiopiques series more than twenty years ago with Hédetch alu, the B-side of his first single (AE 440, released by Amha Eshètè in February 1972). Betraying the singer's extreme youth (he was not yet 18 at the time), his angelic voice fooled more than one listener into thinking they were hearing a female singer. He was not yet 22 when he released his last vinyl record on Kaifa Records (KF 39LP) in 1976, one of the last released in Ethiopia before the cassette became the dominant medium for music distribution.

Ethiopia, 1976. For a year now, cassettes have been inexorably crushing the vinyl record market. Muluken Mèllèssè's 33 rpm album [Muluqèn Mèllèssè / Muluqän Mälläsä], KF 39, produced that year by Ali Abdella Kaifa - Ali Tango! - on his Kaifa Records label, is historic in more ways than one. It is one of the last vinyl records released in Ethiopia, but more than that it is the absolute masterpiece of Ethiopian Groove - and its swansong. It leaves posterity with a clear idea of the level of sophistication and mastery that modern Ethiopian music had reached before it was crushed under the military-Stalinist boot of the Derg - the word that stands for the bloody revolution that had been underway since 1974.

Either Orchestra & Ethiopian Guests -
Ethiopiques 32: Nalbandian The Ethiopian

Here we are in the mid-1950s and early 1960s, on the eve of the blossoming of Swinging Addis. By the Bostonians of the Either/Orchestra

Kevork Nalbandian was an Armenian emigrant who had become deeply Ethiopianised, Nersès Nalbandian: Moussié Nersès, Nalbandian the Ethiopian.

This is Ethiopia in the mid-1950s & early 1960s, on the eve of the blossoming, or rather the explosion, of Swinging Addis. Rock'n'roll, rhythm and blues, soul and twist had not yet burst onto the scene, and the atmosphere was still steeped in the post-war big band era, with Glenn Miller's In the Mood enduring as a global anthem on a par with the Latin wave which was also popular at the time. But post-war joie de vivre was already there, with peace restored after the terrible Italian-Fascist invasion of 1935-1941. The redeployment of modern music was an integral part of the reconstruction. It was the young generation, parents of baby-boomers, who had the first taste of this resurrection before the baby-boomers themselves took over, definitively electrifying the soundtrack of the end of the imperial reign. It was stateless persons of Armenian origin, Kevork Nalbandian and, above all, his nephew Nersès, who contributed to revolutionizing modern Ethiopian music. The great historical godfather of this music, it must be strongly emphasized, was an Armenian emigrant who had become deeply Ethiopianised.

A riot of brass instruments, well-integrated discipline, relentless innovation and revolutionary teaching methods took care of the rest, starting in 1955. These outsiders, who composed two Ethiopian national anthems and a continental anthem (no less than the anthem of the OAU, the Organization of African Unity), were also and above all the true origin of what would become the Swinging Addis of the 1960s. Nersès was granted Ethiopian nationality in 1957 for services rendered to Ethiopian music.

With the essential contribution of Russ Gershon and the Bostonians of the Either/Orchestra, this recording represents the crucial modernist link that until now had been missing in the Ethiopiques.

Thomas Roth - Maskenball CD

This new album by nyckelharpa player Thomas Roth, who has toured with bands like Blackmore's Night, is a great journey through medieval times.

The nyckelharpa - a fascinating marvel of sound. It resembles a violin, as it is played with a bow. But at the same time, it requires the musician to play numerous keys. One of the few masters of this instrument is Thomas Roth. He was a guest on tons of recordings and touring member of Blackmore's Night, the medieval folk band of Ritchie Blackmore (Deep Purple, Rainbow).

FAR OUT
 life on & after the commune

Far Out: life on & after the commune tells the story of two rural New England communal farms founded in 1968 by a group of young, radical journalists from the Liberation News Service (LNS), tracing fifty years in the lives of a like-minded group of writers, activists and artists. It conveys not only how these "hippies" transformed Vermont and Western Massachusetts, but also how rural life and the people they met changed them.

Featuring archival footage and contemporary interviews with members of the communes, Far Out paints an intimate portrait of how this group of artists and activists dealt with the pressing issues of the day – gay and women's rights, sexual freedom, nuclear power, raising children, the role of the family – and the realities of life, relationships and money in an anarchic communal setting.

Force: Five (Collector's Edition)

A martial arts team invades a cult's island fortress to rescue a senator's daughter in this action-packed 1980s thriller.

A powerful and dangerous cult, hidden on a remote island fortress, has brainwashed the daughter of a U.S. senator. With local authorities powerless and time running out, the government turns to a highly specialized team of martial arts experts known as "Force: Five." Led by seasoned agent Jim Martin, the team includes five elite fighters, each with unique combat skills--from unarmed street-fighting and karate to high-impact kickboxing. Their mission: infiltrate the island compound, uncover the secrets of the cult's charismatic and manipulative leader, and rescue the senator's daughter before she becomes permanently indoctrinated--or worse.

From writer / director Robert Clouse, the auteur of Bruce Lee's legendary Enter the Dragon and Jackie Chan's The Big Brawl, along with a diverse cast of martial arts legends including Joe Lewis (Bloodfight 2: The Deathcage), Bong Soo Han (Kill The Golden Goose), Sonny Barnes (Black Belt Jones), Benny "The Jet" Urquidez (Dragons Forever) and Richard Norton (Mad Max: Fury Road) & Amanda Wyss (A Nightmare on Elm Street), comes this early 1980's entry in the classic martial arts action genre that's "a lot of fun and that's precisely what makes the film so entertaining and has a sense of humor about itself and is a very cute, little action picture" (Gene Siskel, Sneak Previews).

Something Better Change

A documentary film about the legendary punk band D.O.A. and frontman Joe Keithley's shocking political victory.

Throughout the 1980s, outfits like Black Flag, D.O.A., Dead Kennedys, Minor Threat and the Circle Jerks helped define the decade's deafening hardcore punk sound, paving the way for the eventual explosion of punk bands through radio and MTV in the decades to come. While punk rock's upper echelon may no longer be as culturally seditious as they once were, the genre's effect on a new generation of activists and aspiring politicians has never been more clear.

The Vancouver-based D.O.A. have always been a politically outspoken outfit since first forming in 1978 as teenagers. Their mix of raucous anthems like "Fucked Up Ronnie", "America The Beautiful", "The Prisoner" and others remain classics. The band's 1981 LP entitled "Hardcore '81" was awarded the prestigious Slaight Family Polaris Heritage Prize in 2019, which honors groundbreaking Canadian albums from the past, winning out over 11 other critical album releases including The Band's "Music From Big Pink", and Joni Mitchell's "Court And Spark."

In 2018, after 40 years of fighting against oppression, homelessness and corporate greed around the world, D.O.A. frontman Joe Keithley decided to turn art into life and run against the outspoken Mayor of Burnaby, Derek Corrigan. In a classic underdog scenario --and with only a $7000 campaign budget--Keithley convincingly won a city councillor seat that year and helped to unseat the entrenched five-term Corrigan.

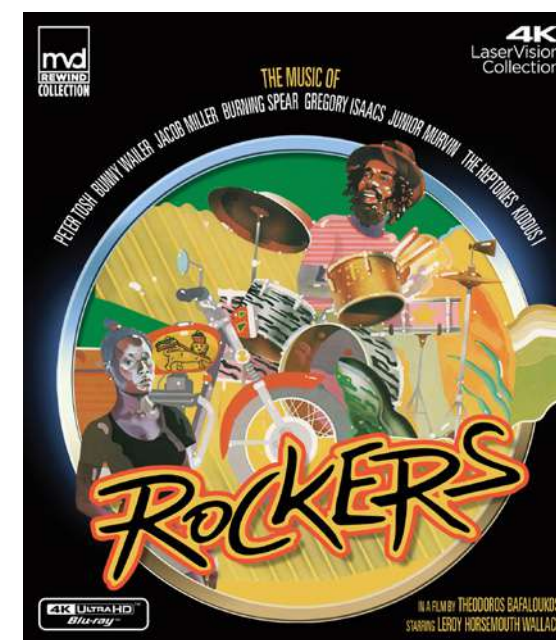

The filmmakers followed Joe Keithley during his 2022 reelection campaign to document the amount of work and commitment that goes into running for public office. They were allowed unprecedented access to Keithley's entire campaign throughout its often chaotic and nail-biting conclusion. Ultimately, Something Better Change is a documentary film that proves music, political steadfastness and social advocacy can work together to effect real change just about everywhere--including city hall.

Year Of The Rabbit

Detective Inspector Rabbit, a dedicated, tough, thick, and oft-inebriated Victorian copper, sleuths his way across London with his two young partners.

London, 1887. A lawless city. Jewel thieves and body snatchers stalk the streets and the police do their best to contain them - but it isn't easy. At the forefront of that fight is Detective Inspector Rabbit (Matt Berry, What We Do in the Shadows). Rabbit's been chasing bad guys for as long as he can remember, but now he's not as young as he was and his heart keeps stopping at inopportune moments. So Rabbit's boss, Chief Inspector Wisbech (Alun Armstrong, Breeders) forces him to get a partner - young, fresh-faced and clueless Sergeant Strauss (Freddie Fox, House of the Dragon), just down from Cambridge. He isn't cut out for this sort of work. He's only ever read about the East End in pamphlets. But he's really, really keen. Susan Wokoma (Enola Holmes) shines as policewoman Mabel Wisbech, whose stunning intuition is rarely recognized.
