SUPERHEROES RISE THIS FALL!

MVD powers a September slate of Superhero sass, kicking off with the 4k and bluray extended versions of 1987's MASTERS OF THE UNIVERSE! From new studio TOY ROBOT, see Dolph Lundgren Master his Domain as He-Man, seeking to find the key to thwart the evil Skeletor from turning all-powerful. Features extended and deleted scenes, seen for the first time in this or any Universe! GUYVER: DARK HERO is a sequel to THE GUYVER, Chronos being the Evil Corporation who control the Guyver, a mechanical device that turns the user into a cyborg superhero. This edition arrives finds our hero returning for unfinished business with evil human mutants, and Chronos unleashing all its venom to stop him! Considered better than the original! FORBIDDEN PLANET is an out-of-this-world Sci-Fi classic from 1956, getting an ARROW VIDEO upgrade as a two-disc edition on 4K and bluray. Cavorting on a distant planet to find clues from an earlier expedition is Anne Francis, Walter Pidgeon and high-flying icon Leslie Nielsen. Surely a classic, and don't call me Shirley!

TEQUILA SUNRISE goes from Superheroes to Superstars, as this 1988 film features Michelle Pfeiffer, Kurt Russell, and Mel Gibson at the peak of their (super) powers. A former drug lord tries to take the straight and narrow, but his close friend the detective and a love interest threaten to keep him drugged. Drunkenness is on the menu in HUNDREDS OF BEAVERS, as a spirited applejack salesman is stranded after beavers destroy his orchard, having to survive in the snowy wilderness, capturing beavers for food, fur, and revenge. This slapstick humor-fest spirals downward as Jean the Applejack tries to subdue hundreds of beavers and learn to survive in nature. Surviving as a priest can be noble work, but the temptations of women, booze and brawls make their divine intervention in the WICKED PRIEST COLLECTION limited edition bluray. Five WICKED PRIEST comedic martial arts films across three discs offer high praise for the high priest!

Performing rock 'n roll communions since 1983 are Sunset Strip stalwarts L.A. GUNS, and they come out firing on the bluray of LIVE FROM THE GUILD THEATRE. A new performance that features original member Traci Guns, L.A. GUNS rip through classics old and new. Legendary musical chameleon PAT BOONE recognizes the classic artists on his new LP and CD THREE STARS TRIBUTE, a homage to the Day the Music Died with Pat and company honoring the memories of Buddy Holly, Ritchie Valens and the Big Bopper.

What's YOUR Superpower? Open up and find out!

Together with Cornelius Claudio Kreusch and Johannes Tonio Kreusch, he created pieces that crashed and flowed against one another like waves.

BUDDY HOLLY®

THE BIG BOPPER®

On February 3, 1959, Ritchie Valens®, Buddy Holly®, and The Big Bopper®—the Three Stars—were taken too soon in a tragedy that changed a generation. Nearly 70 years later, their enduring songs continue to bring joy to rock & roll fans and inspire musicians who have followed in their footsteps. Led by rock & roll icon Pat Boone, this first-of-its-kind collaboration of artists pays tribute to the Three Stars through vibrant and heartfelt interpretations of their music. Like them, the songs remain forever young.

Teratum - Ordnance of Spiritual Warfare Vinyl

After the death of Swedish Beastiality, this new black thrash entity arises and attacks with their first ep.

Upon the annihilation of Beastiality in 2024, there arose a force most terrible and divine: Whilst not ditching the blackthrashing mania of Beastiality entirely, TERATUM here conjure a sulfurous storm that runs parallel to their belligerent predecessor, asserting an iron-fisted identity all their own. Indeed, the thrashing is violent, but the BLACK deepens into a malodorous void.

Game Over - When Darkness Falls

THRASH METAL DESCENDS

When Darkness Falls is the latest thrash metal assault from Italy's Game Over, arriving just one year after the acclaimed Face The End. Building upon the momentum of its predecessor, the band pushes its signature combination of razor-sharp riffs, relentless speed, hardcore aggression, and anthemic choruses to even greater extremes while maintaining the unmistakable identity that has earned them an international following among modern thrash fans.

Inspired by the aesthetics of 1980s horror cinema, the album populates its lyrical world with monsters, demons, and dark humor while delivering ten uncompromising tracks packed with breakneck energy and memorable hooks. Game Over's songwriting continues to evolve without sacrificing the intensity that defines the genre, creating an album built equally for the stage and the mosh pit.

This limited edition LP is pressed on marbled red vinyl and is restricted to just 400 copies, making it an essential collectible for fans of contemporary thrash metal.

Tommy Flanagan - So In Love Vinyl

A concert produced independently of any tour, a tribute to an artist who was able to distil precious poetry right up to the very last moment.

There is more of the history of jazz and 20th-century music in this record than in any educational anthology. In Milan, where he recorded the album with two old friends, Reid and Heath, Flanagan recounts his journey through jazz with joy and melancholy. And between a tribute to Thad Jones and one to Cole Porter, he seems to ask his muses (Tatum, Monk, Jones): is there a place for me? We say yes.

The Residents - Eskimo Folk Tales

THE RESIDENTS return with an all-new EP - six new pieces picking up where their 'Eskimo' masterpiece left off!

In the 1970s, as The Residents worked on their 'Eskimo' masterpiece, their mentor The Mysterious N. Senada sent them a collection of handwritten Inuit folk tales, suggesting they incorporate them into the album. But the group shelved them, having gathered more than enough stuff themselves by that point, leaving them to gather dust. Here and now, almost 50 years later, The Residents have revived those folk tales as part of their forthcoming 'Eskimo' live performance, blending them with familiar elements of the original 'Eskimo' album and new music to produce the soon-to-be-classic show. We present a studio recording of those new songs, alongside read-along stories, as written down by Senada almost half a century ago. This is not a new side of 'Eskimo', but a modern interpretation of material which might, in another universe, have found its way onto the original. Includes individual story texts plus the bonus track 'The Arctic Fox'.

 - THE OLD WOMAN AND THE SKULL
 - A TALE OF TWO TUPILAQS
- THE FOOL WHO MADE FRIENDS WITH A STONE

One of the most important albums of Bley, on a compositional and musical level, a condensation of the artistic and life experiences of the pianist.

A tribute to O. Coleman through a reinterpretation of the concept of 'free', facilitated by the splendid compositions of Annette Peacock and Carla Bley.

Senri Oe - HOMEWORK

"HOMEWORK" captures the raw beauty of Senri Oe's creative life in NYC. A profound reflection of life turned into melody.

HOMWORK is an ambitious and deeply personal collection from acclaimed jazz pianist and composer Senri Oe, presenting sixteen original compositions inspired by his daily creative life in New York City. While the title reflects the discipline of his constant writing process, the album's true focus is the remarkable chemistry of Oe's jazz trio. Most of the music was recorded at Brooklyn's renowned Bunker Studio with drummer Ross Pederson and bassist Matt Clohesy, where the trio transforms Oe's compositions into vibrant, energetic performances filled with sophisticated interplay and modern jazz expression.

Balancing the studio sessions are several intimate "digital performances" recorded in Oe's New York apartment, offering listeners a glimpse into his private creative world. These contrasting settings create a unique sonic journey that moves seamlessly between polished ensemble performances and reflective solo explorations while maintaining a cohesive artistic vision throughout.

Recorded at The Bunker Studio in Brooklyn by engineers Aaron Nevezie and Jasper Leach, with experimental mixing by Nevezie and mastering by Alex DeTurk, HOMWORK embraces both acoustic warmth and sonic experimentation. The result is a richly layered modern jazz recording that captures an artist continually pushing the boundaries of composition, performance, and production.

This year however, Shah's timed his 'Music For Balearic People' to coincide, not with the opening parties but the closing ones.

Salvatore Bonafede - Modus Operandi CD

Great super trio featuring Eddie Gomez and Billy Hart, who bring out the best in Bonafede's piano playing.

The power trio of Bonafede, Gomez and Hart shines in a new light on this album, a sort of 'art of the first take'. The Sicilian pianist scores his first "four-peat" for Red Records, following Ortodoxa, Paradoxa ,Piano Solo. The dense web of literary references hints at a playful and sophisticated puzzle, where language finds its home in melodies finely woven into chains of harmonic substitutions.

Steve Grossman - My Second Prime CD

This album not only testifies to a Grossman in great shape, but also captures the moment of the relaunch of an artist's career.

My Second Prime is the last piece that completes the tetralogy of albums that Steve Grossman recorded between 1984 and 1990 for Red Records. The five years that separate the three studio recordings made for Red Records and My Second Prime show how Grossman's music had in a certain sense been "completed" and enriched by the personal reworking of Rollins' language.

Steve Lacy - Axieme CD

Lacy said; If you study and instrument alone, you're already playing alone. With one small step you can get to do it in public and this is a big step.

Lacy, alone on stage, grappling with the possibilities of silence: the echoes, the excesses, the ways in which the emptiness and fullness of his jazz shift and find harmony in a spiritual realm. Six tracks performed under the banner of his sixth sense for the blues and his 'inner' sense of time: elements that make 'Axieme' a gem for hearts open to the wild beauty of creativity in its purest form.

Teratum - Ordnance of Spiritual Warfare CD

After the death of Swedish Beastiality, this new black thrash entity arises and attacks with their first ep.

Upon the annihilation of Beastiality in 2024, there arose a force most terrible and divine: Whilst not ditching the blackthrashing mania of Beastiality entirely, TERATUM here conjure a sulfurous storm that runs parallel to their belligerent predecessor, asserting an iron-fisted identity all their own. Indeed, the thrashing is violent, but the BLACK deepens into a malodorous void.

Tommy Flanagan - So In Love CD

A concert produced independently of any tour, a tribute to an artist who was able to distil precious poetry right up to the very last moment.

There is more of the history of jazz and 20th-century music in this record than in any educational anthology. In Milan, where he recorded the album with two old friends, Reid and Heath, Flanagan recounts his journey through jazz with joy and melancholy. And between a tribute to Thad Jones and one to Cole Porter, he seems to ask his muses (Tatum, Monk, Jones): is there a place for me? We say yes.

TWIGGY

THE WOMAN BEHIND THE ICON

Cleopatra Entertainment is proud to announce the release of TwiggY, the sophomore directorial outing from British actress Sadie Frost. This first-ever documentary dedicated to TwiggY takes an intimate and star-studded look at the life and legacy of the eponymous 1960's supermodel, starting from her meteoric rise from a working-class London teen to a global "It Girl" and cultural icon.

The film blends archival footage with exclusive, modern-day interviews with famous friends and fans, including Paul McCartney, Dustin Hoffman, and Brooke Shields, among others. The film received an enthusiastic response at festivals including London, Rio, Sydney, Dublin, and Dinard.

Discovered at 16 and proclaimed as "the face of '66" by Daily Express journalist Deirdre McSharry, the model became an overnight sensation. The world saw her grace the covers of Vogue and Tatler by 17, and the New Yorker magazine devoted nearly 100 pages to the TwiggY "phenomenon" after her arrival in New York. TwiggY shook the world by giving women a whole new look and feel to aspire to. TwiggY brought an elfin androgyny to the forefront and helped revolutionize the accepted image of the female form, giving a voice to a whole new generation of women.

Out Now
Making its US debut, this 5-film set is from the wildly surreal, music- and color-saturated world of fairy tale films or Märchenfilme from East Germany’s DEFA Studios, representing one of the great, still-overlooked subgenres in world fantasy filmmaking. Part Sid & Marty Krofft Saturday morning kiddie psychedelia, part sturdy Socialist moralizing, the Märchenfilme were one of DEFA’s most popular genres from the 1950s to 1970s.

“My Only Friend’s A Corpse is a great, creepy watch with a very memorable ending. The acting is strong. The score and cinematography are fantastic. But it is the special effects that take this from very good to damn near perfect. Movie buffs who want to support original independent works need to find and watch Bayless’s excellent little title as soon as possible.”

COMING SEPTEMBER 8 ON BLU-RAY!

From notorious underground cult exploitation writer and director Bill Zebub,
NEVER MAKE A MOVIE IN TEXAS depicts the hellish experiences he had while filming in Texas.

The film serves as a highly personal, humorous, and hyper-skewed account of the renegade director’s struggles filming in the American South. The culture shock hit him far worse than an average traveler, and it didn’t take long for him to get banned from many places. This documentary is his personal depiction of his torment, which may also be comical. In addition to the preposterous stories, audiences will get to enjoy a ton of never-before-seen footage.

In his English-language debut, award-winning director André Øvredal (TROLLHUNTER, THE LAST VOYAGE OF THE DEMETER) unleashed an "intensely frightening" (Wicked Horror), "gaspingly good" (The New York Times) "exercise in pure terror" (Flickering Myth), now laid out and sliced open in UHD for the first time ever. When the body of an unidentified young woman is discovered at the scene of a mass slaughter, it is sent to the local coroner (Emmy® and BAFTA winner Brian Cox of Succession and MANHUNTER) and his son (Emile Hirsch of INTO THE WILD and ONCE UPON A TIME IN... HOLLYWOOD) for surgical post-mortem. But this corpse will reveal chilling secrets. The mortuary itself will pulse with malevolence. And as their autopsy cuts deeper, an unstoppable evil will rise. Ophelia Lovibond (Minx) and Michael McElhatton (Game of Thrones) co-star in this "masterclass in horror filmmaking" (Coming Soon), now scanned in 4K with Special Features including new interviews with André Øvredal, Emile Hirsch, Olwen Catherine Kelly and more.

THE DUKE MITCHELL COLLECTION!

Grindhouse Releasing presents the most anticipated home video release of the decade, two brain-blasting '70s crime thrillers from Duke Mitchell - MASSACRE MAFIA STYLE & GONE WITH THE POPE - plus the CD premiere of the GONE WITH THE POPE soundtrack - together in one dynamite package!

Available for the very first time together in stunning hi-definition picture and sound.

In 1974, Italian-American actor and nightclub singer Duke Mitchell wrote, produced, directed, and starred in his homemade answer to THE GODFATHER, self-financed with earnings from his career as the self-proclaimed “Mr. Palm Springs.” Promising “more guts, more action, more dynamite” than the Mario Puzo classic, MASSACRE MAFIA STYLE delivers an onslaught of low-budget mayhem unlike anything you’ve ever seen.

Shot in 1975, GONE WITH THE POPE was unfinished at the time of Duke Mitchell’s death in 1981. Actor Sage Stallone (DAYLIGHT, ROCKY V) and Academy Award-winning film editor Bob Murawski (THE HURT LOCKER, ARMY OF DARKNESS) of Grindhouse Releasing rediscovered the film in 1995 and vowed to save it from obscurity.

The definitive releases of these Holy Grails of exploitation cinema are packed with hours of bonus materials, including the GONE WITH THE POPE original motion picture soundtrack CD, available for the very first time!

Boys Go To Jupiter

Directed by Julian Glander in his signature tactile, lo-fi CGI style, Boys Go to Jupiter transforms the sprawl of suburban Florida into a pastel purgatory of empty strip malls, algorithmic music, and adolescent yearning. What begins as a quest for financial freedom slowly evolves into an offbeat odyssey of love, labor, and late-capitalist absurdity, as Billy is forced to decide how far he'll go to protect his friends - and his future. With its deadpan humor, musical detours, and deeply felt strangeness, the film reimagines the coming-of-age comedy as a vapor-soaked fable for the burnout generation.

As Jerusalem erupts in revolt against Rome, political rivalries and fanaticism push a divided nation toward the destruction of the Second Temple.

Set during the final days of the Second Temple period, the film chronicles the events leading up to the destruction of Jerusalem in 70 CE. The English-language version features the voices of Oscar Isaac (Dune), Evangeline Lilly (Ant-Man), Billy Zane (Titanic), Elliott Gould (Ocean's Eleven), and Marilu Henner (Taxi).

Patti Rocks

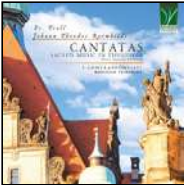

Billy hasn't told his pregnant girlfriend Patti that he's married with kids and can't afford another. Patti sets him straight in this edgy comedy.

Twin Cities barge worker Billy (Chris Mulkey, First Blood) enlists his buddy Eddie (John Jenkins, Loose Ends) to accompany him on a night time road trip in the dead of winter to visit his out-of-town, pregnant girlfriend Patti Rocks (Karen Landry, The Personals). Billy hasn't told her that he's already married with two children and cannot afford another child or the disruption to his life. Billy and Eddie call life as they see it. No matter how raunchy, funny or sexist it may be. Billy is messed up enough for several thousand guys, while Eddie is understanding enough for two. And Patti--well, she straightens them both out. Twelve years after he teamed the characters of Billy and Eddie for his acclaimed debut feature Loose Ends, filmmaker David Burton Morris (Purple Haze) reunited them for this revealing and controversial comedic drama. Originally rated X for its profane language, Patti Rocks portrays its flawed characters' deep inadequacies with humor, nuance and honesty. Long out of circulation, Patti Rocks has been restored from a 4K scan of its original 35mm internegative for its worldwide Blu-ray premiere.

Year of Production: 1988 | Rating: R | Director: David Burton Morris | Actors: John Jenkins, Chris Mulkey, Karen Landry

Elena Cecconi & Luigi Magistrelli & Matteo Fedeli - J. Montelli: Three Trios For Flute, Clarinet And Viola CD

J. Montelli's three trios for flute, clarinet and viola unite classical proportion, timbral clarity and finely balanced chamber dialogue.

Round Wheeler surveys Kenny Wheeler's long-form art, where orchestral colour, memory and improvisatory breath are shaped into structure.

At the centre stands The Sweet Time Suite, whose eight panels form a narrative span, while Kayak and Sophie confirm Wheeler's gift for joining songful line to oblique harmony, so jazz becomes writing without losing the breath of improvisation.

Federica Bertot & Emanuele Sartoris - Sinestesia CD

Sinestesia unfolds as a four-panel cycle where sound becomes sensuous matter and synaesthesia serves as a structural principle of form.

Sinestesia unfolds as a four-panel cycle - Extra, Cashmere, Danza, Salina - where synaesthesia is not decorative metaphor but structural law. Sound is treated as sensuous matter that touches, illuminates, scents and settles, while form links heterogeneous sensations into a continuous dramaturgy of density, temperature and grain, shaping a single imagistic sonic landscape of perception and memory.

Hsian Tu - Ravel: Complete Works For Solo Piano CD

Ravel's Complete Works for Solo Piano traces a whole keyboard universe of colour, precision, masks, memory and modernity in depth.

Complete Works for Solo Piano offers an exhaustive portrait of Maurice Ravel's keyboard universe for the 150th anniversary of his birth. From Sérénade grotesque and Menuet antique to Gaspard de la nuit, Miroirs and Le tombeau de Couperin, the piano becomes both an alchemical workshop of colour and an inner mirror, shaping a modernity at once lucid, chiselled and quietly unsettling.

Hyewon Chang - Franz Schubert: Piano Sonatas I CD

Piano Sonatas I traces Schubert from youthful freshness to late inwardness, in a triptych of song, clarity, silence and expansive scale.

Piano Sonatas I inaugurates a Schubertian journey conceived as a true sonata triptych, drawing the freshness of 1817, the radiance of Steyr and the inward metaphysical breadth of 1828 into one horizon. From D. 557 and D. 664 to the final B flat major Sonata D. 960, song, dance, silence and monumental design converge in a poetic testament for piano, memory, time and broader scale.

Jah Wobble & Tian Qi Yi - Mystic Liverpool: The Beatles' Psychedelic Psongbook CD

Jah Wobble teams up with his sons John T and Charlie - performing as Tian Qi Yi - for a deeply personal re-imagining of The Beatles' psychedelic period

The Liverpool connection runs through the family itself: the boys' mother, Zi Lan Liao, grew up in the city and it's where her father established the Pagoda Chinese Youth Orchestra - in which John T and Charlie were soloists. Mystic Liverpool is psychedelic in the truest sense - a mystical, immersive journey into songs that have always pointed east,.

Kotlinski & Zhu & Kulakowski & Balderi - Sir Paolo Tosti At The British Royal Court CD

This Tosti tribute revives the bittersweet art of the salon song, poised between Italian bel canto grace and English salon refinement.

Francesco Paolo Tosti, later Sir Paolo, was the unrivalled master of the salon song, joining Italian bel canto elegance to English aristocratic refinement. Interpreted by Stanisław Daniel Kotliński with violin, cello and piano, this tribute recreates the world of waltzes, romances, prayers and farewells, where melancholy never excludes grace and intimacy remains touched by theatrical instinct.

Luca Pincini - G.O.M.P.: Four Cinematic Voices For Solo Cello CD

G.O.M.P. brings together four cinematic voices for solo cello, where silence, resonance and memory become the patient grammar of form.

G.O.M.P.: Four Cinematic Voices for Solo Cello unites Glass, ŌEshima, Morricone and Pincini under a single sign: the space between sounds, where resonance turns into thought and memory. More than an anthology, it is a coherent polyptych that places cinema and concert hall in dialogue without confusing their grammars, shaping a theatre of distances in which form becomes a grammar of waiting.

Marco Angioloni & Ensemble Il Groviglio - Il Canto Della Nutrice: Nurse Tenor Arias In Italian Baroque Opera CD

Marco Angioloni and Il Groviglio revive the nurses of seventeenth-century opera, balancing comic wit, conscience and unusual beauty.

This debut album by baroque tenor Marco Angioloni and his ensemble Il Groviglio explores a lesser-known aspect of seventeenth-century opera: the figure of the nurse. By retracing arias from Cavalli, Cesti, Melani, Sartorio and Scarlatti, the programme reveals a character by turns comic, dramatic and morally reflective, while introducing a singer and ensemble of expressive and stylistic quality.

Michele Castaldo - Rachmaninov: Etudes-tableaux Op. 39, Sonata No. 2 In B Flat Minor, Op. 36 CD

Rachmaninov's Études-Tableaux op. 39 and Sonata no. 2, transcribed for guitar, recast mass and resonance as line, polyphony and perspective.

Rachmaninov: Études-Tableaux op. 39 and Sonata no. 2 in B flat minor op. 36 pair the nine Études with the Sonata's 1931 revision, presenting the composer as visionary and architect. Transcribed for guitar, the music undergoes a true timbral translation: keyboard density and resonance become string polyphony, altered decay and oblique perspective, so that mass turns into line and colour into space.

Oscar Del Barba - Giuseppe Verdi Entangled CD

Oscar Del Barba reimagines Verdi through contemporary jazz, creating visionary new works rather than merely dressing famous themes in swing.

This CD approaches Verdi not through "jazzy" arrangement but through true re-creation. Inspired by themes and airs from some of the most famous operas, pianist and composer Oscar Del Barba transforms them into something new, where contemporary jazz languages meet a compositional imagination indebted to Frank Zappa. The result is an unconventional, risky and strikingly original encounter.

Ruan Lu - Chopin: Andante Spianato, Grande Polonaise Brillante & Ballades CD

Chopin's Andante spianato and four Ballades trace a narrative piano world where memory, transformation and musical destiny converge.

Within Chopin's poetic world, the piano becomes both song and narrative. The Andante spianato and Grande Polonaise brillante op. 22 opens from unbroken cantabile into public gesture touched by nostalgia, while the four Ballades form a novelistic arc in which episodes and returns change like characters. Here classical dialectic dissolves into transformation, and narrative turns into destiny.

Tatiana Larionova & Sara Pastine & Martina Biondi - Chaminade: Piano Trios Nos. 1 & 2, 3 Morceaux Op. 31 CD

Chaminade's two piano trios reveal chamber writing of ambition and design, where lyric ease arises from firm constructive thought.

Poised between salon brilliance and formal discipline, Cécile Chaminade's two piano trios reveal chamber writing of firm design and uncommon ambition. Trio no. 1 in G minor op. 11 balances rhythmic impetus and cantabile breadth, while the 3 Morceaux op. 31 and Trio no. 2 in A minor op. 34 show increasing density, lyricism and structural control, far beyond decorative cliché throughout.

The House With Laughing Windows Blu-ray Disc

Often counted among the greatest gialli ever made, The House with Laughing Windows offers a uniquely eerie twist on the genre.

While typically famed for its lurid Technicolor hues and grand guignol murders, the Italian giallo thriller had a less bombastic side as well. Erring less towards exploitation than to art, these lesser-seen gems offer some of the greatest rewards for adventurous viewers. Among them, 1976's The House with Laughing Windows, directed and co-written by Pupi Avati, rises up as the cream of the crop.
