Cheezy Flicks Cheezy Horror V. 1 & V.2 Trailer Sets + Nikkatsu Roman Porno Trailer Collection (Impulse Pictures DVD)

Picture: C+    Sound: C+
Extras: C    Complications: B

We continue to enjoy the release of collections of movie trailers on DVD by various labels and we now look at three titles that all have an exploitation edge to them. First are the two volumes (we hope so far) of trailers in the Horror genre from Cheezy Flicks, who have issued several collections before, including two Science Fiction sets we all reviewed elsewhere on this site. Their two sets have some overlap and even repeats within the same disc, but here is the list minus repeats so you know what you are getting:

- Curse Of The Undead
- Dr. Jekyll & Sister Hyde
- Equinox
- Berserk (black and white version)
- Horror Hotel (aka City Of The Living Dead)
- The Leech Woman
- Humanoids From The Deep
- Abby (aka The Blaxorcist)
- Horrors Of The Black Museum
- Seizure
- The Sinful Dwarf
- Eaten Alive
- Fearless Vampire Killers (aka Dance Of The Vampires)
- House On Haunted Hill (Vincent Price/1958)
- Dr. Phibes
- The Children
- The Werewolf vs. The Vampire Woman
- Count Dracula & His Vampire Bride
- Whatever Happened To Baby Jane? (extended w/behind the scenes)
- The Old Dark House (William Castle)
- The Werewolf (Columbia/1956)
- The Premature Burial
- The Chosen
- The Man Without A Body
- Tales From The Crypt (1972)
- House Of Fright
- The Cyclops
- Terror In The Wax Museum

We have reviewed more of those titles than you might think and that some of them survived and even made it to DVD is a plus, while a few of them are on Blu-ray. Then there is the Nikkatsu Roman Porno Trailer Collection which features films we are far less likely to see, let alone cover. 38 trailers for these somewhat explicit and sometimes violent erotic films from 1971 to 1988 are here and mirrored the XXX movement in the U.S. in tales including rape fantasies (the girls?/the rapists?/the audiences?), torture and comedies. These “pink films” were sold as dramas and as realistic and the titles were as basic as the films, including the likes of three Female Teacher titles, four Nurse titles, four with Rape in the title (three begin with it, one is it) and other suggestive titles you’ll have to see for yourself as they would be unintentionally funny to repeat here. This collection shows us an alternate erotic cinema few know about and some might want to take a look at. The studio made about 850 themselves and distributed over a thousand in this period.

The 1.33 X 1 image on the Cheezy sets include some letterboxed trailers, including some letterboxed incorrectly, while the Nikkatsu set shows its various aspect ratio trailers in anamorphically enhanced 1.78 X 1/16 X 9 framing. Many are in 2.35 X 1 scope. The Dolby Digital 2.0 Mono in all cases (some of the Nikkatsu are simple stereo at best) can be rough and uneven, but are not bad throughout overall in any of the cases, though the Nikkatsu are a little clearer overall. Extras in the Cheezy sets includes trailers for other Cheezy releases and Intermission shorts, while Nikkatsu has a semi-censored erotic short called Ryoko's Lesbian Flight that is not that memorable and liner notes from “Behind The Pink Curtain” author Jasper Sharp.
