

Contents

- News & Updates
- New Comments
- Album Reviews
- DVD Reviews
- Now Playing
- Bands & Festivals
- Live Coverage
- Articles
- Interviews
- Contact & Staff
- Advertising
- Guestbook
- Links

Member Section

Z Nickname:

 Z Password:

Remember me

- Join RevelationZ
- Forgot Password
- Member List

Latest Ratings

- Accept - Russian Roulette 7/10
- Accept - Balls to the Wall - Remastered 7.5/10
- AC/DC - Back In Black 8/10
- Abydos - The Little Boy's Heavy Mental Shadow Opera About The Inhabitants Of His Diary 8/10
- Iron Maiden - Fear of the dark 7.5/10
- Show More...

Now Playing

Quick Review: Rhino Bucket - Who's Got Mine

This band just get better and better. George Dolivo's distinctive vocals snake through the dry, shimmering guitar driven heat, stoked up by ex Kix man Bryan Forsyth's tautly economic riffs and the rhythms section's metronomic, bass heavy beat. Same old same old. Tried and tested. Trusted and true.

If anything, the songwriting has improved, album by album, since Forsyth joined the band back in 2001. 'Who's Got Mine' stitches together a bunch of tough, leathery tunes, shaped to fit the band's blue collar lyrical aesthetic, weaving through shifting layers of melody, embellished by carefully weighted lead guitar work, usually culminating in a refreshingly compact chorus. The first three tracks - 'Message In My Bottle', 'Lifetime' and 'Back To Nowhere' are among the best (and most accessible) the band have written. Raw, passionate, driving, memorably melodic. Songs with humour, pathos and a satisfying lyrical payoff. "I'm going back to nowhere, I hope they take me in".

That said, there's barely a dip across these 11 tracks. A cool, industry minimum 38 minute blast of sandblasted melodic rock, with the band's Oz influences showing their big, bold, schoolboy face on the hard rockin' 'Chase The Case', and 'Hollywood And Wine' providing an altogether more adult resonance.

Their best yet, no danger.

Style: Hard Rock

Rating: 8.5/10

Posted by Brian - Sunday, March 13, 2011

Like Be the first of your friends to like this.

RevelationZ Comments

Login to RevelationZ member section to comment

Facebook Comments

Add a comment...

Post to Facebook    Posting as Clint Weiler \(change\)   

Facebook social plugin

More Information: Band Page

Daily Spotlight

Enuff Z'nuff - 1985
 After their third release, Animals with human intelligence, Enuff Z'nuff found themselves in ....
Read full review

Albums of the month

(Nina)
Sister Sin - True Sound Of The Underground
 I was blown away by the Swedish rockers' sophomore album, Switchblade Serenades, and had high hopes for this release, despite the departure of ....
Read full review

(Michael)
Gypsy Pistolero - Duende - Last of the Pistoleros
 This is a true story. It takes place in a time where there was no law and order. The location is a dusty place ....
Read full review

(Brian)
The Von Herten Brothers - Stars Aligned
 When these guys write and record their songs, there's definitely a movie playing in their heads. 'Stars Aligned' has been described as the s....
Read full review

Statistics

Uptime: 15h 16m 10s

Visitors today: 6056
Page views today: 6775
Online now: 138

Local time:
5:46:46 PM

RECENT REVIEWS

(Alanna)

Danger Danger - Return of the Great Gildersleeves

There's always an album or two from a major band that seems to slip under the radar, despite critical acclaim and explosive buzz. Some ten years, afte....

Read full review

Archive

- Albums of the month
- Retro Reviews

Back to the top - © 2002-2011 RevelationZ Magazine - Back to the top