... more than meets the eye

A BALANCE (DVD) Film Movement

Investigative filmmaker Yuko (Kumi Takiuchi) is putting together a piece about the bereaved families connected with a bullied schoolgirl's suicide. Determined to shed light on the truth, Yuko's uncompromising nature brings her in conflict with the conservative-minded management at her television network, but succeeds in getting her interview subjects to place their trust in her. Then Yuko discovers that her father, Masashi (Ken Mitsuishi), who runs a test prep school, has made a grave error of judgment. The further she becomes involved in his mistake, the more she finds herself telling lie after lie. As unexpected developments occur, Yuko's struggles with her conscience and her compromised perception of the truth force her to make life-altering decisions. The sophomore feature from Yujiro Harumoto, A Balance had its world premiere at the Pingyao International Film Festival where it won both the Roberto Rossellini Jury Award and the People's Choice Award before also capturing the New Currents Award at the Busan International Film Festival.

MOJA & VESNA (DVD) IndiePixFilms

Following her mother's sudden death, a young girl tries to mend her fractured family in this devastating drama from down under. Ten-year-old Moja (Loti Kovacic) lives with her grief-stricken Slovenian father, Milos (Gergor Bakovic) and pregnant twenty-year-old sister, Vesna (Mackenzie Mazur) in the outer suburbs of Melbourne. Unable to accept the reality of her mother's sudden passing, Moja instead focuses on preparing for the baby while Vesna struggles to take responsibility as an expecting parent. Despite the growing strain in their relationship, Moja pushes on, hoping in vain that Vesna will eventually fill the "mother-shaped hole" in her life. It is not until Moja meets and befriends Miranda (Claudia Karvan) and her quirky daughter Danger (Flora Feldman) that she begins to realize that brighter days lay ahead.

THE SHOOTIST

(Blu-ray) Arrow Video

John Wayne's cinematic swan song is coming to Blu-ray. The Shootist, Arrow Video is releasing Wayne's final film. This new Blu-ray edition of The Shootist will feature an all-new 2K transfer from the 1976 film's original 35mm camera negative. It will also be loaded with special features, including a new audio commentary by film historian Howard S. Berger. It will also include a number of featurettes, including an appreciation of legendary film composer Elmer Bernstein's score, a visual essay on John Wayne by filmmaker and critic Scout Tafoya, the film's original trailer, and much more. The set will also feature six replica lobby cards from the film, a double-sided poster featuring the film's original theatrical poster design and a new piece by Juan Esteban Rodriguez, and a collector's booklet by film critic Philip

Kemp. In The Shootist, Wayne stars as aging gunfighter J.B. Books, who comes to Carson City in 1901 to seek out his old friend, Doc Hostetler (James Stewart) to treat his failing health. Hostetler diagnoses Books with terminal cancer, giving him months to live. Books decides to live out the rest of his days in town, but the presence of the once-infamous "shootist" attracts attention; both from killers looking to be the one to end his life, and from the young Gillom Rogers (Ron Howard), who wants to learn how to be a gunfighter himself over the objections of his mother (Lauren Bacall). Eventually, Books decides to die on his feet rather than in bed, and arranges for a final confrontation. Directed by legendary director Don Siegel, the film also stars John Carradine, Scatman Crothers, Richard Boone, and Harry Morgan.

DARK WATER (UHD) Arrow Video

After terrifying audiences worldwide with the blockbuster J-horror classic Ring and its sequel, director Hideo Nakata returned to the genre for Dark Water, another highly atmospheric, and critically-acclaimed tale of the supernatural, which took the common theme of the "dead wet girl" to new heights of suspense and drama. Based upon a short story by Ring author Koji Suzuki, Dark Water follows Yoshimi, a single mother struggling to win sole custody of her only child, daughter Ikuko. When they move into a new home within a dilapidated and long-forgotten apartment complex, with a ceiling that has a dark and active leak. Yoshimi begins to experience startling visions and unexplainable sounds, calling her mental well-being into question, and endangering not only her custody of Ikuko, but perhaps their lives as well. Beautifully shot by the same cinematographer as Ring and Pulse, and featuring an especially unnerving sound design, Dark Water successfully merges spine-tingling tension with a family's heart-wrenching emotional struggle, creating one of the very finest and most unsettling contemporary Japanese horror films.

IMMIGRANT CRISIS JUST BEGINNING

A staggering 10 million people have entered the U.S. illegally since Inauguration Day 2021 in what is seemingly a ticking time bomb according to author Todd Bensman who says "We've never seen anything like it. There's a price tag to all this that Americans are finally waking up to."

A large crowd showed up at the West Roxbury Elks Hall this past Tuesday to hear Todd Bensman, the author of the book "Overrun: How Joe Biden unleashed the greatest border crisis in U.S. history." His appearance was sponsored by the group, Bostonians Against Sanctuary Cities.

MACY'S TO CLOSE 150 STORES

Let us all pray to God that the Macy's store in Downtown Boston will not be among the 150 unproductive namesake stores over the next three years, including 50 by year-end. The chain posted a fourth-quarter loss and declining sales. The company said that it would be opening 15 new Bloomingdale stores.

ALL THAT JAZZ

One of my favorite radio stations is "Watercolors" on Sirius XM Channel 66 on the dial. I recently heard Herb Alpert playing "Route 101" and it looks like Alpert is aging quite well. Check out this song, you'll appreciate me putting you on to it.
