Banned film Silence Ca Tue! makes its way to the U.S. on Sept. 22nd!

I caught Silence, ça Tue AKA Silence We Are Shooting when it played at the Arizona Underground Film Festival last October, and it blew my mind! I found out the other day that its being released in the US on Sept. 22nd from an up and coming label called BrinkDVD, and I'm excited this film got picked up for distribution!

Silence Ca Tue is a controversial film that has been hailed by critics, film festivals, and fans around the world as a film that defines 21st century guerrilla filmmaking. Banned in their home country of Belgium and France for its not-so-popular theme of killing predominant filmmakers, its filmmaking at its best!

This will be the film that people will be talking about for years to come, and is a radical piece of guerrilla cinema like the modern equivalent of Man Bites Dog. I will not be surprised if this film ends up being banned from the U.S. as well.

My recommendation to you is to check out this films at all costs. You will not be disappointed. One of the best underground films to come out in a long time.

It's available for preorder on Amazon. Type in Silence Ca Tue!
