

All Wood and Stones II by John Batdorf & James Lee Stanley

(http://www.dvdsnapshot.com/wp-

content/uploads/2013/07/AllWoodandStones2.jpg Main Plot Points:

- The third in the celebrated All Wood and... series, this time out James Lee Stanley rejoined forces with the estimable John Batdorf (of Batdorf & Rodney fame) to create All Wood and Stones II.
- Ten more classic songs from the remarkable Rolling Stones catalog.

What We Thought:

- As a fan of The Rolling Stones, I was sent All Wood and Stones II by John Batdorf and James Lee Stanley.
- That being said, it does not sound like The Rolling Stones at all.
- Sure there are a few of their bigger hits, "Sympathy for the Devil," "Jumpin' Jack Flash" and others, but it sounds like elevator music more than classic blues rock.
- I'm not familiar with either singer at all and I only kinda liked one of them (not really sure which one either).
- "Wild Horses" is one of my favorite songs (not just Stones songs) of all time, I did not like this version at all.
- I love acoustic music usually. Loved the MTV Unplugged series. I could have done without this.
- Overall I can't say I became fan and wouldn't go out of my way to pick up any of their other music or covers. I'd rather just pop on Forty Licks and hear the music by the originals, The Rolling Stones.

Special Features:

- It's an audio CD

Notable Cast & Crew:

- John Batdorf
- James Lee Stanley
- Songs originally performed by The Rolling Stones

Recommended if You Like:

- Folk Music
- Acoustic Guitar
- Rolling Stones Covers

Overall CD:

Movie: C

Extra Features: N/A

Written by Ken Murray (<http://www.dvdsnapshot.com/author/ken-murray/>) .

Published on July 02, 2013

()
(javascript:;) (javascript:;)