While the comedy world is reeling from the loss of Patrice O'Neal, who died this week after suffering a stroke in there's at least a small glimmer of positive news. A new Patrice O'Neal album, Mr. P, is set to be released Feb. through BSeen Media, the same company who released Jim Norton's Despicable this year, as well as albums fr Felat, Tom Papa and Tom Shillue in years past.

Details on the album are scarce right now. But I can tell you the album was recorded April 15 at the D.C. Improv already pre-order the album on Amazon and iTunes.
