

News

BACK TO INDEX

29/10/08 - Stemm land another UFC theme song

US metal band Stemm are celebrating after the UFC elected to use a song from their new album on the forthcoming Fox series of UFC Wired.

Speaking to Metal Underground this week, the band revealed that the song House of Cards - from the album Blood Scent – will be bookending the show.

Stemm are responsible for 'Face the Pain', the track which introduces every UFC pay-per-view and was included on the UFC 'Ultimate Beatdown' audio release.

UFC Wired is hosted by Joe Rogan, who handles commentary and in-cage interview duties for the UFC, as well as pursuing a separate successful career in stand-up comedy.

FOX will air the series as part of a syndication deal, which means that it will be shown at different times by different FOC-owned channels depending on geographical region.

Advertisements:

Attachments:

- There are no attachments for this article