GENE VINCENT/The Capitol Years: Certainly all you could ever need to appreciate Vincent as this collects seven albums and a ton of supplemental material. One of the original purveyors of rockabilly cool, Vincent was one of those 50s cats with a load of trouble on his mind brewing under the surface, he helped define terms like 'rockabilly rebel' and his influence can still be felt today. This music here is very much a product of it's time but it wears well and a whole raft of today's rebels without a clue could get a few clues from the high energy stuff running wild here. This is a collection of four discs that you'll rip through before you even know where the time went. Hot stuff from a cool cat.
