

BOSSA NOVA BRASILIA BOSSA NOVA USA/various: Show me exactly how you can argue with a twofer set running over 2.5 hours that mixes it up on killer, essential bossa nova tracks from both sides of the equator as the sound was ramping up to "Girl from Ipanema". You might not know all the Brazilian names, no matter how important they are, but if you don't know the American jazzbos that were catching the breeze from the south, inhale this collection and go back to school. It's all here, it's all in one place and it's all on grand display. Bug off late night commercials until you can come back with something this utterly cool. This is what it was like before we entered the realm of soon come.
