

Ween – Gone Fishin’!

Not many bands can say that their fans love them hook, line and sinker. But Ween can make that claim – literally. The band’s guitarist, Dean Ween, is an avid fisherman, and several years ago he began talking about his hobby on the Ween Web site. That resulted in fans sending him thousands of invitations to get together and go fishing, and Dean has not only been taking them up on it, he’s been taking along a camera.

On the last Ween world tour, Dean fished with fans everywhere from the Great Lakes to locations in Australia, and he filmed it all. The footage is posted at www.brownletroopfs.com, and the latest episode features Dean casting a line with the Butthole Surfers near Asbury Park, N.J.

Earlier this summer, Ween released the five-song The Friends E.P. through Chocodog Records.
