Johnny Cash - "The Man, His World, His Music" DVD - This appears to be a simple digital transfer of an old late-60's TV program/documentary, and it's a wonderful observation on one small segment of this legend's life - both at home and on stage. From his live performances with wife June Carter to the historic studio recording with Bob Dylan to hunting (Cash cares for an injured crow, so animal rights people can rest easy), to family reunions, this is a seldom-seen portrait of one of America's greatest voices. The transfer isn't wonderful or remastered in any way, but nonetheless it's entirely watchable, and a fascinating series of vignettes and clips that bring into focus the intimate life of the enigmatic 'Man in Black'. A welcome addition to the collection, and highest marks. (Cherry Red UK c/o MVD Visual)
