

chris forbes/metal core webzine

HANOI ROCKS/The Nottingham Tapes DVD (MVD) This band will be best be remembered as having the drummer that Vince Neil killed when he was arrested for DUI a long time ago. The band were just starting to get some attention in the US when this happened and the band broke up after that incident, but reformed in 2002. What we have on this is a show from 1994 and the band are in their glory as they deliver tune after tune of glam and slam sleazy punk rock as only they could do. Think The New York Dolls meets glam rock meets old Alice Cooper. The film quality is pretty good considering it was filmed way back in 94 and the band also throw in a Ramones cover for good measure. The tunes are all catchy numbers with the singer is his flamboyant best. I think this band was very underrated and if they had not broken up I think they would have been huge as their songs were much better than a lot of the hair bands back then. Check this out for yourself and be convinced. Info:

www.mvdb2b.com