

...is the spice of life!

Last Shop Standing is a brilliant 50-minute doc based in the UK that brings official light to the demise of record shops across the land. A lot's gained by the consumer of the digital/iTunes age today, but this documentary touches on the relevance of neighborhood grooming, community bonding n' music aptitude - all lost - when the dwindling of record shops (from 2200 in the '80s to 269 in '09 for example) became a reality. DVD out 4/20.
