

Human League Live at the Dome

The seminal Synth-pop experience of the 1980's toured last year and recorded the carnage. 17 of their hits, and believe it or not- I know and knew them well. Highlights include footage of their Grove of Anaheim stop and a HUGE GLBT turnout at one stop that was definitely a showstopper. There is nothing sexier than 25,000 queens singing along with red plastic cups in hand no less, to "Don't you want me?" And you honestly have to ask yourself don't you want me? Well do ya, Punk? Sorry couldn't resist.

http://www.metrog.com/events/13_joe.html