SELECTER-Live From London - MVD

The Selector, much like other two tone bands always left a little to be desired for my tastes, not for any other reason except slowed down ska is nothing more than reggae to me. However, this performance may have changed my view on this particular band. Unlike other acts from this time period, The Selector has a lot more energy live. While other bands of this genre were laid back, Pauline Black was shouting out to the crowd in an effort to get them involved with the show. This was a pretty powerful performance featuring a nice collection of Selector tunes from Respect Yourself to Too Much Pressure. This DVD made me a believer of this band and could quite possibly do the same for you.(JK)
