DVD REVIEW - Voivod - DVOD1 (Music Video Distributors)

Voivod
DVOD1
Music Video Distributors

Voivod has always been one of those bands that had a cult following. Additionally, they are one of those bands that almost every metal musician has cited as an influence. Yet, for the average metal fan, they probably know little more than the guy from Metallica joined this band. As a longtime fan of the band, it's good to see them put out a DVD. Featuring material recorded from the "original lineup" period from 1983 to 1991, DVOD1 features videos, live footage and a lot of extra material from the band during their classic underground heyday. These Canadian rockers were always two parts metal and one part experimental, and it shows on this release. Most impressive was the live performance of "Tribal Convictions" from the Montreal Spectrum in 1988. Late guitarist Denis "Piggy" D'Amour proves why so many people considered him one of the greats on this one. Original vocalist Denis "Snake" Belanger always had that nasal snarl about his vocals, which is experienced throughout the videos for songs like "Ripping Headaches" and "Psychic Vacuum". Voivod were always in their own world, and this DVD doesn't do much to change that. This is pure Voivod at their peak, and it's most worthy to fans of the band.

PITRIFF RATING - 8/10.
