

PIEBALD -

Killa Bros and Killa Bees

(SideOneDummy)

It's a DVD and a CD. The Killa Bros DVD is live performances and behind-the-scenes footage. First it's Meet The Members: Lucian Garro, drums; Andy Bonner, bass; Travis Shettel, guitar and vocals; and Aaron Stuart, guitar. Then they rock out in Germany; there's also footage from NY, LA, Oregon, etc. The History segment features Aaron doing an Adam-

Sandler-like song about how Piebald started in '95 when he and Travis couldn't even drive. Other segments include In The Studio, Back On Tour (with impressions of the Croc Hunter), and New Material.

Killa Bees is "a B-Sides CD." It's all previously unreleased tracks. Some are first versions of songs they later released, and others are never-before-heard-in-any-form Piebald. There's nice guitar work (and play) on Anthem of New Boston. Part of Your Body (Is Made Out of Rock) in its original version is reminiscent of Presidents of the United States of America. Waiting On the Rays has cool lyrics, check it out. Julia Bell is cute and happy with wood-block chunk percussion sounds in there, and Travis sounds a little like Johnathan Richman, you know, that cute guy that sings and plays guitar and guys hate him? And Summer of Love sounds oddly like a Counting Crows song. Nice. KH

QUEENS OF THE STONE AGE - Over The Years And Through The Woods

(Interscope Records)

A live DVD/CD set featuring the emasculated and extremely monotone punk-pop sounds of Joshua Homme and friends. This guy's got about a two and a half note vocal range, give or take a note and a half. I'm leaning toward the take side too. As seen on the DVD, they're playing in front of a (fudge) packed house. They must really have lots of relatives and friends because I highly doubt that all those people are there for the music. What, it sold how many copies? Maybe it's me.... JV

ANDREW W. K - Who Knows? Live in Concert: 2000 - 2004

(Music Video Distributors)

Energetic and exciting performances from this (soi-disant?) King of Party Music. Violet Life, Party Hard, Make Sex, Take It Off, Tear It Up, Never Let Down... I think you get the idea. A.W.K. has a great time with his band, and as narrator. KH
