

HAWKWIND - Out of the Shadows · MVD Visual / Secret Films

This is, without question, a legendary band. However, the only reason I've ever really had to care about HAWKWIND is because Lemmy used to be a member about 666 years ago. Still this 2002 concert looks and sounds good. In fact, it sounds great. These guys are just weird enough to really get some good out of 5.1 DD surround sound. I am a little surprised that the video is 4x3, though. I'd have expected these space cases to have jumped all over widescreen video, but I guess this show is almost half a decade old already. Even if you don't stylistically appreciate HAWKWIND's eccentric Space Rock, I think that anyone has to respect the band's abilities, which are impressively displayed here. Bonus features include a band interview and biography. For fans this is probably an easy ten, but for a bastard like me... - 8 - <Ray>

<http://metalcurse.com/reviews/>