

Stream: Mission of Burma: "Academy Fight Song (Piano Cocktail Version)"
Plus: DVD details

Mission of Burma would be rolling over in their graves right now...if they were dead and hadn't recorded this little rendition of "Academy Fight Song"-- which is almost Christmas-y in its sprightliness-- themselves. Roger Miller "worked this up in 1981 (as well as 'Max Ernst' and 'OK/No Way'). It's kind of a parody of a parody," according to the band's MySpace page, where they've posted the tune for your streaming merriment.

Not a Photograph, the band's previously reported reunion documentary DVD, comes out November 21, and it turns out it boasts three tracks from proto-Burmans the Moving Parts instead of just one. There is also archival footage from a radio interview and performance that was part of a Boston local news segment in 1983. Our Band Could Be Your Life scribe Michael Azerrad wrote the DVD's liner notes.

Stream: Mission of Burma: Academy Fight Song \(Piano Cocktail Version\)
[\[MySpace\]](#)

Posted by Dave Maher in audio, dvd on Fri: 11-03-06: 11:45 AM CST | Permalink

http://www.pitchforkmedia.com/page/news/39513/Stream\_Mission\_of\_Burma\_%E2%80%9CAcademy\_Fight\_Song\_Pia#39513