This was a really great DVD to watch. It shows Obituary at their best and the shots were multi-angled and professionally done. The band was really tight and definitely rocked the house. Not only was the picture great but the sound was awesome. This was their first DVD release and they had been on hiatus for eight years. Looks like the time away hadn't stopped their energy or their aggression. There's some really cool bonus material on here of interviews with the band members and you definitely want to watch those. If you are a death metal fan you need this CD.
