"Earthday Celebration: A Reggae Tribute to Garnett Silk" (MVD Visual) captures this annual tribute to reggae artist Garnett Silk, who died in 1994 while attempting to save his mother from a house fire. The Garnett Silk Foundation coordinates the Earth Day bash annually to celebrate Silk's music. In 2003, performers such as Sizzla, Turbulence, Richie Spice, and more, worked up Silk's dancehall rockers and soulful reggae ballads with passion and playfulness.
