

HomeFeaturesInterviewsContactStorePhotosFeaturesNewsReviewsNew Releases

Ninetail - Half Truths & Hand Grenades

Ninetail - Half Truths & Hand Grenades - DRP

Watch out metal world for you have a new band to love. Ninetail, who have only been around for a scant few years, have dropped a 10 megaton bomb in the form of their second release, Half Truths & Hand Grenades. This balls out piece of aggression will have your head in full rivet from the first note to the last, not letting up an ounce until the last track is done. J. William Heitmann, their voracious vocalist, is a monster. His vocals go from full growl to a melodic snarl in a heartbeat while Don and Chris blow the speakers with their unrealistic guitars. The songs are unrelenting, keeping a chaotic pace as they come off as a new Slipknot, only one upping their peers with more aggressive melody. One thing I love about the newer metal bands is the ability to display a crunchy but "clean" riff, forgoing the sloppiness that blanded metal for awhile and this band can do it. The riffs pummel as well as the rhythm section and trust me, my stereo in my car was at full tilt for the entire ride. If a new metal experience is what you need then Ninetail's Half Truths And Hand Genades is what awaits you.

CD review by Jeffrey Easton

<http://www.myspace.com/ninetail>

Buy Half Truths And Hand Grenades!

© 2008 Metal Exiles & JBohatch-Easton Designs 2008