

Daily Green

At Music Connection we feel it's important for artists and musicians to be aware of the impact they have on the environment and on the fortunes of others. So please make it a point to click on the green heart for tons of green tips and info about how musicians are making a difference in the world.

Always check the Archive menus on this page for Green Events you may have missed.

Innovative Tour Brings Free Concerts Across U.S.

JD Malone & the Experts are delivering a message to unify Americans through a groundbreaking touring concept—the “Do What You Can Do” U.S. Tour, launching Oct. 13th. Malone and his band will travel to cities and towns all over America, performing free concerts in conjunction with local and national charity organizations. Joining them at each stop will be local based “friends,” with the artists playing with each others’ bands on stage in a display of unity. For more information, visit www.dowhatyoucando.com.