“The Life After Death Project” (Syfy/YellowHat, 2013, not rated, two discs, $24.95, featurettes, sequel: “The Life After Death project 2: Personal Encounters”). After airing on the Syfy cable channel this documentary and its sequel come to DVD, purporting to provide evidence of family members being contacted by loved ones who have passed on. Much of the focus is on the late Forrest J. Ackerman, science-fiction/horror enthusiast and founder of the fan magazine Famous Monsters of Filmland. Anecdotal stories are interesting if not always convincing. - Chris Hicks
