

Life After Death Project:(7/16/2013)*Wow. We really don't know what to say about this. The late Forry J. Ackerman was the greatest movie fan who ever lived: the publisher of Famous Monsters magazine and muse to generations of movie makers. But according to this doc he also posthumously communicated with the living by editing a writer's notes, which are then given the full CSI treatment to prove their authenticity. Includes comments, tributes and testimonials by Forry fans and friends such as Richard Matheson, Whitley Strieber -- and even Forry himself!
