MICHAEL SCHENKER With ROBIN MCAULEY: New York City Footage Available - Mar. 12, 2012

Singer Robin McAuley has reunited with legendary guitarist Michael Schenker (SCORPIONS, UFO) for their first full together in almost 20 years.

The full band lineup for the trek is as follows:

- * Michael Schenker (SCORPIONS, UFO) - Guitar
- * Robin McAuley (SURVIVOR) - Lead Vocals
- * Elliot Rubinson (Dean Guitars) - Bass
- * Wayne Findlay - Keyboards, Guitar
- * Pete Holmes (BLACK 'N BLUE) - Drums

Schenker's new album, "Temple Of Rock", was released in Europe on September 23 and in North America on October 11 on CD and LP through Schenker's own Inakoustik label via MVD Entertainment Group. The album was released in Japan on September 7.

If I want to hear the majority of these songs I will go to see UFO or Scorpions. Michael Schenker has plenty of his own great material to choose from so why not play them. All great songs though.

while i'll agree he could drop a couple of ufo songs & add more msg songs i enjoy seeing him play the classic songs that he created. i like vinny moore but i'd much rather see michael playing rock bottom, lights out than him. but i wouldn't add more mccauley stuff. save yourself is the only one worthy to be on that list. the other stuff was too weak in comparison to other msg songs.

no "Love Is Not A Game"? no "Anytime"? no "Never Ending Nightmare"? no "Gimme Your Love"?

Agreed. I would have driven down to see the show if Gimme Your Love was on the set list. As an added bonus, opening act (the newly reunited) SLEEPY HOLLOW are awesome!

Glad Robin is back singing where he belongs. And I too wish there would be some more McAuley/Schenker era songs. Save Yourself is an awesome album.

Saw them a few nights ago. and Michael was on fire and sounded flawless. Great to see Robin back w/ him. too. He should of never left in the first place. Good to see McAuley & Schenker getting along again!

Saw that NYC Gramercy Theater gig, Michael was spot on. Great to see him back in control, and I hope he plays with the Scorpions (and Uli too) on the Final Sting tour. That would be a magnificent conclusion to the career of the greatest German rock band ever.

Gotta chuckle over the "too many UFO songs" and "where are the McAuley hits" comments above. You must not see very many concerts if you think any performer is not going to play their most popular songs. Michael Schenker will always play the UFO songs, because he needs to sell tickets in order to continue his career. Playing "McAuley Schenker hits", which is quite the oxymoron there, would result in plummeting attendance after the setlists are posted online.

I just saw the MSG show at Allentown last night, also. Michael Schenker was in great form. He is a true master. Michael has a great lineup featuring Robin McAuley, who sounds great singing anything on the set list. If you are a fan of any Schenker era, this is a must see. Great musicianship and some great songs to hear live. Let Sleepings Dogs Lie sounded awesome from the self titled MSG album. The two Scorpions tracks from Lovedrive were killer!

"Anyitme" by MSG is a great song. I was just watching the video the other night. It was a fairly big hit back in the day (#5 on the Mainstream Rock chart, #69 on the Billboard Hot 100).

Holy FUCK!!
That even made me like Robin Macaulay Culkin.
Good to see a real drummer with him and not that hack Carmine Appice, like last tour, as well.

I've heard a rumor that MSG will be the opener on the U.S. Scorpions/Tesla run this Summer. If you check MSG's Euro run right before you'll see it ends 6/6 perfectly dovetailing with the beginning of the Scorps U.S. run on 6/8. Don't know why anything has yet to be announced (contractual issues perhaps?) but Hermen Rarebell is rumored to be on drums for MSG for this run and there will be a Scorps/Michael/Herman portion of the set. Anyone else heard this?
