the oh-no! DVD of the week: 'Trek Stars Go West'

When Gene Roddenberry tried to explain to NBC execs that his new show Star Trek would be "Wagon Train to the stars," he had some evidence to back himself up:

This never before released two-disc set showcases the stars' appearances on classic (and some completely forgotten) western programs from the 50s and 60s.

Disc 1 includes: Tate (1960): Episode Comanche Scalps starring Leonard Nimoy and co-starring a young Robert Redford in the critically-acclaimed but obscure series Bonanza (1960): Episode The Ape co-starring Leonard Nimoy and Dan Blocker Outlaws (1960): Episode Starfall Parts 1 & 2: Starring William Shatner, Cloris Leachman and more in a feature-length adventure. Disc 2 includes: The Lone Ranger (1949): Episode Legion of Old-Timers featuring Deforest Kelley, Clayton Moore & Jay Silverheels Last of the Mohicans (1957): Episode The Scapegoat starring Lon Chaney Jr. and James Doohan Outlaws(1960): Episode Shorty featuring Edward Binns, Alfred Ryder and Leonard Nemo White Comanche (1968): The cult classic tamale western starring William Shatner & Joseph Cotten
