

NEW YORK POST

So how does someone make some noise in the crowded DVD field? With some clever packaging.

Witness "Trek Stars Go West," which will be available Nov. 9. The DVD features "Star Trek" stars William Shatner, Leonard Nimoy, DeForest Kelley and James Doohan in roles they played before "Trek" -- all with Western themes. For instance, there's an episode of NBC's "Tate" from 1960 called "Comanche Scalps" featuring Nimoy (in Indian headdress) and Robert Redford, and an episode of "Bonanza" called "The Ape," also from 1960, and also featuring Nimoy.

There's also an episode of "The Outlaws" (1960) featuring Shatner and Cloris Leachman; and a 1949 (!) episode of "The Lone Ranger" featuring Kelley and series stars Clayton Moore and Jay Silverheels.

For Doohan fanatics (he played Scotty on "Star Trek"), there's a 1957 episode of "Last of the Mohicans."
