

WINSTON-SALEM JOURNAL

Before they went to the stars, the crew of the U.S.S. Enterprise went west.

The new DVD set Trek Stars Go West, which is due out Tuesday, collects some Western TV-show appearances by Star Trek actors Leonard Nimoy, William Shatner, DeForest Kelley and James Doohan, including guest roles in episodes of such popular shows as Bonanza and the Lone Ranger as well as more obscure fare such as Tate and Outlaws.

Rounding out the collection is one theatrical release, Shatner's campy 1968 film White Comanche, in which he plays scenery-chewing twin brothers, one a noble gunslinger and the other a dastardly renegade.

- Tim Clodfelter