

DVD SNAPSHOT

▶ HOME

▶ ABOUT US

▶ INTERVIEWS/SPECIAL FEATURES

▶ LINKS

▶ CONTACT US

▶ SEARCH

TV Spotlight (DVD/Blu-ray Review)

V, The Twilight Zone, Men Of A Certain Age, Lie To Me, The Boondocks, Metalocalypse, Dragnet 1969, Trek Stars Go West, Betty White In Black & White, Dennis Hopper: The Early Years

INFO@DVDSNAPSHOT.COM

 Mike Spring - Editor
DVDSnapshot

Which 80s show had the better name: "Hardcastle & McCormick" or "Tenspeed & Brownshoe"?

about 1 minute ago · reply

@murraymaker Yeah, that's a great disc. Love it. I love all of their stuff, really.

18 hours ago · reply

Prepare to be SUCKER PUNCHED. Exclusive featurette w/ the cast of @ZackSnyder's upcoming epic action fantasy on Apple:

<http://bit.ly/98iztq>

18 hours ago · reply

@WinchesterBros Yeah, it's a bit messed up graphically and needs to be reformatted, but here it is: <http://bit.ly/hp4WAc>

18 hours ago · reply

With only 30 days left in our @kickstarter

.....

Join the conversation

© Copyright 2009 DVD Snapshot. All Rights Reserved.

Editor's Note:

This is one of a selection of reviews we're putting up as mini-podcasts. When you click on the player below, you can listen to the review. Enjoy!

The Snapshot:

V: A season that shows this series has potential more than a season that really makes you a fan. Looking forward to Season 2, but you need to watch Season 1 to understand what's going on.

The Twilight

Zone: Classic television, amazing transfers, and seriously more extras than you can possibly ever find time to watch? HIGHLY RECOMMENDED!

Men of a Certain Age: A solid show in its first season, this one has room for improvement but also has a lot of charm. Not a full-on drama but not a comedy, Men of a Certain Age lands in the comfortable space in between.

Lie To Me: A surprisingly good show, Lie to Me has a good cast and is eminently watchable. It's not appointment TV for me, but I certainly do enjoy watching it when it comes in on DVD.

The Boondocks: There's no way to describe the show; you really just have to watch it. The Boondocks is simply hysterical. Extremely, horribly wrong on every level, but hysterical.

Metalocalypse: Ridiculously over the top, this death metal parody can be both funny and brutal. Adult Swim Fans will love having it on Blu-ray.

Dragnet: This is THE classic Dragnet. Sure, you have the 1950s show, the radio dramas, and even the Tom Hanks and Dan Aykroyd movie from the '80s, but when people think of Dragnet, they think of Jack Webb and Harry Morgan.

Mr. Ed: The show actually holds up surprisingly well. It's a different style of humor from what we expect out of today's sitcoms, but I'd be lying if some of the corny jokes and more innocent stylings of humor didn't make me laugh as I was watching it.

Dennis Hopper/Star Trek/Betty White: These are interesting releases in that they do present some cool rarities for fans of Star Trek, Betty White, and Dennis Hopper. Not quite a treasure trove, and the cheapie packaging doesn't do them any favors, but a fun curiosity overall.

- Mike Spring
Editor

© Copyright 2010 DVD Snapshot. All Rights Reserved.