

Category Archives: Slaughter Tales

31 Days of Horror – Day 10 – Johnny Dickie’s “Slaughter Tales” \(2012\)

Posted on October 11, 2012

Movies & TV on DVD and Blu-ray
Save up to 40% on Bestsellers amazon.com
Shop now Privacy

This no-budget feature from writer-director-star Johnny Dickie begins as we meet a young boy who steals a VHS tape and heads home to uncover the ghoulish delights. A horror fan, he expects this to be the worst horror movie he's ever seen. He might even secretly HOPE this is the worst horror movie he's ever seen.

Before he can pop the tape into his VCR, he is confronted by a ghost that warns him about the tape. After being scared for a second, he pretty much tells the ghost to "fuck off" and begins the decent into horror movie badness. What follows is an anthology film unlike any anthology film I've ever seen. Filled with fake trailers, some amusing Grindhouse nods, and some of the strangest horror tales this side of the 80's...

Slaughter Tales is...umm...interesting. This is the kind of strange SOV style horror that just isn't made today. I admire the passion behind the production from Dickie who does just about everything in this production and it is obvious from beginning to end that he is an extreme fan of the genre. Some of the tales work better than others and, at 91 minutes, the film does feel a bit on the padded side. Nonetheless, the Troma level of energy and excitement kept me consistently entertained. Filled with just about every bodily fluid imaginable, it is never anything less than cheerily revolting. I wouldn't be surprised if this is the best worst movie I see all year.

Related Slashings:

Two Cult 80's Slashers Headed to DVD

90's Slasher Throwback: "Halloween: H20" Review

IFC Midnight Presents New Experiment in Terror: "The Tortured"

Posted in *31 Days of Horror, Slaughter Tales | Leave a comment

| Theme design by Cryout Creations

www.slasherstudios.com

Proudly powered by WordPress.

Movies & TV on DVD and Blu-ray
 Save up to 40% on Bestsellers

amazon.com
 Shop now
 Privacy

0243972